THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND units of diphtheria anti-toxin carried into Nome by dog sled arrived frozen solid. Doctors hope the anti-toxin will retain the power to fight the diphtheria plague in spite of the freezing.

Heat would destroy it, as it destroys all life, if sufficiently intense.

But the simpler germs of life, good and bad, survive intense cold.

That is why a child skating in Winter, nibbling a piece of ice from a stagnant pond, may get typhoid from the ice.

And that is why, when this earth had cooled off sufficiently to make life possible, germs of life from some other older planet could come traveling through the ether at a temperature of absolute zero and start life on this planet, to travel up through the millions of years of evolution.

YOUR REAL ORIGINAL ancestor, according to science, was not a monkey, a lemur or the five-toed salamander of the carboniferous era, from which we are supposed to get the five fingers on each hand.

That real ancestor was a meteorite, flung off from another planet, carrying the germs of life locked up inside of it, traveling endless miles through the ether, striking this earth's atmosphere, becoming intensely hot by atmospheric friction, plunging into the ocean's water, and exploding there, releasing germs of life to start, as all life on earth did, in the salt water.

THAT'S THE SCIENTIFIC story, but it will never replace in the hearts and minds of millions of those living the more romantic story of the lonely Adam, created out of dust, and beautiful Eve, made of a rib taken from Adam, while he slept, and the wicked snake, walking along on the tip of his tail, until for his sins he was condemned to travel flat on the ground. See Genesis for all details.

THE RELIGIOUS MAN says to the scientist: "Your explanation of life on this earth is worse than foolish, it's sinful."

The scientist replies: "How do you account for the fact that every man has the same number of ribs on both sides of his body? If one rib was taken out to make Eve, there should be one rib missing on one side."

A scientist did say that to a distinguished American clergyman once, and invited the clergyman to go to a museum and count the ribs on many skeletons. The clergyman replied: "I should consider it blasphemous to do so. I know without looking that every man has one rib less on one side than on the other."

THE CLERGYMAN was wrong. The number of ribs was equal on both sides, but his faith was admirable.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER and George F. Baker, who is either the second or third richest man in the world, played golf, each finishing nine holes with a score of 54. It is said to have been a perfectly beautiful, peaceful sight. It reminding you of Genghis Khan, the powerful, calmly playing chess with his crippled son, while his armies were fighting and winning all over the East. The Rockefeller and Baker financial armies were fighting and winning for them all over the world, as those two old gentlemen, both past eighty, played their peaceful game. And these are wonderful dollar armies. They feed themselves, produce little interest-children every year, always obey orders, and never lose a battle.

ROBBERIES MUST BE INVESTIGATED UNTIL THIEVES ARE CAUGHT

In an effort to stem the crime wave, emphasized this week by a series of store and apartment robberies, Superintendent Michael H. Crowley today ordered special officers attached to Boston police divisions to give more attention to investigation of such crimes and less time to out-of-town junkets to bring back prisoners.

One out of the State trip a year for extradition of prisoners is enough for any special officer, the superintendent believes. He also stated every officer in a division should be given an opportunity in turn to make trips for prisoners arrested outside the Commonwealth.

The robberies this week, according to police department files included the looting of a radio shop, a fur shop, two men's clothing stores and two apartments. The activities of thieves and pickpockets are not abating, according to reports made public during the week by the police.

Superintendent Crowley's order was directed particularly to special officers who were told if they desire

SUNDAY BASEBALL PLEA IS PRESENTED

Opposition to Sunday baseball was today characterized as "theological humbug pocus," by William Batty, secretary of the New Bedford Textile Council, before the Legislative Committee on Legal Affairs. Batty appealed to the Legislature to "emancipate us from hypocrisy."

"The Puritans had their day," said he. "We ought to have our way now. The time has come to call a spade a spade."

The hearing was on the initiative petition of Joseph F. Conway and others for the passage of an act to

3 BURGLAR SUSPECTS HELD AT WATERTOWN

Three alleged burglars were captured at gunpoint today, while attempting to force an entrance into the Auto Sales and Service Company garage, at No. 71 Arlington street, Watertown.

The trio were detected in the attempted break, by Patrolmen John J. Igoe, and James J. Burke, who when their suspicions were aroused followed the automobile of the alleged burglars.

The officers discovered one of the men trying to force a door of the garage, while another held a flash

STONE DENOUNCED ON SENATE FLOOR

Washington, Feb. 5 (I.N.S.).—Attorney-General Harlan F. Stones was subjected to a scathing attack on the floor of the Senate this afternoon when the Senate broke precedent and began consideration of his appointment to the Supreme Court in open session.

In the House, Representative Sears of Nebraska charged that Department of Justice agents have been shadowing members of Congress opposed to Stone's elevation.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, Montana, denounced Stone for attempting to rebuke his colleague, Senator Wheeler, in the District of Columbia.

EAT CARROTS WHILE WAITING WORLD END

New York, Feb. 5. (I.N.S.)—Thirty-five disciples of Margaret Rowen of Los Angeles were prayfully nibbling carrots and sipping water today on Long Island, preparing for the world's end that they expect within seven days after tomorrow night.

Their carrot and water cuisine, according to Robert Reidl, their Long Island leader, is necessary to cleanse their blood for their anticipated meeting with their Maker. All have disposed of their house furnishings with the explanation that they must have no mundane connections when doom swallows earth.

Reidl said he learned what was going to happen in a dream that startled him from sleep one night last September.

The Book of Revelations substantiates each detail of his vision, Reidl said.

"These events," he explained, "shall be governed by the multiple of sevens. Last Friday ended the seven days of grace for conversions. Now it is too late. The Lord Jesus has chosen the 144,000 who are to be saved.

THIRD BANKER GUILTY IN $18,000,000 CRASH

Toronto, Feb. 5.—H. Casey Wood, director of the Home Bank of Canada, which failed in 1923 for more than $18,000,000, today was convicted of having approved a false statement by the bank to the government. Judge Coatsworth said sentence would be passed next Tuesday, when R. P. Gough, vice-president of the bank, and J. F. M. Stewart, another director, also will be sentenced. They recently were found guilty of having participated in preparation of the statement.

VICTIM, SEALED IN CAVE, FEARED DEAD OR IN A DELIRIUM

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 5.—Lee Collins, father of the entombed man, today asked newspapermen to "ask the country to pray for my boy."

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 5. (A.P.)—Floyd Collins is now completely sealed in from the outside world in the cave in which he has been a prisoner since Friday morning.

Hope for him has been abandoned if Collins is alive, he may have lost his mind.

As a last resort a shaft will be sunk into the cave from above.

Any attempt to mine into the cave probably will be fatal to Collins, it was agreed, but the plan was adopted as a last resort, and Major W. H. Cherry, the Governor's agent, has been instructed to get mine machinery wherever any can be found.

A slow rising of the floor within the cave began today. A rescue crew found that the floor apparently had swollen from below at the

MAN DROPS TO DEATH BENEATH 'EL' TRAIN

William J. Feeney, fifty-four years old, of No. 29 Forest Hills street, Jamaica Plain, stepped into the path of a city-bound Elevated train at the Green street station today, receiving injuries from which he died.

According to the police, Feeney had been in ill-health for some time. He was dragged fifty feet by the train and his skull, right arm and hand were fractured. He died at the City Hospital, where he was taken in a police ambulance.

Witnesses declared Feeney had been pacing the platform and when the train, in charge of Motorman T. Hardy, rolled into the pit stepped off, falling directly in front of the train.

His was employed as a gardener and married.

Telephone Girl Heroines in Cave Drama

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 6.—The heroines in the dramas of Sand Cave, where Floyd Collins is imprisoned, are three telephone operators here.

They are sisters—Bernice, Lois, and Grace Hoggard, 21, 19 and 27 years old, respectively.

The sisters did not remove their clothes nor sleep for three days and nights. The countless telephone calls coming into the temporary "centre of the world" kept them constantly at their posts.

TIRED OF HIDING, DOCTOR SURRENDERS

Dr. Huron Slosson of Charlotte, Mich., walked into Brighton police station and declaring he was tired of hiding gave himself up as a fugitive from justice.

He told Sergeant Harrington he was wanted in Charlotte for malpractice and a telegram to the authorities of that city confirmed the story.

In Brighton court today Dr. Slosson pleaded guilty to being a fugitive from justice and was held in $2,000 until Saturday by Judge Donnelly.

The physician said he left Charlotte eighteen months ago, since which time he has worked in hospitals in various sections of the country. He said he has experienced a change of heart and a desire of returning to "face the music."

QUIZ 60 STUDENTS IN POISON CASE

Columbus, O., Feb. 5 (A.P.)—Columbus police today prepared to question more than sixty Ohio State University students who last week worked in the pharmacy dispensary from which capsules, some of which contained poison, were used to fill fatal prescriptions written by the University Student Health Service.

With university officials co-operating, investigators expected to bend every effort to determine the source of the poison which apparently was a factor in the sudden death of at least one or two students and in the violent illness of at least four others.

With every supply of the poison on the campus accounted for, the innermost squeeze, only a few feet from Collins.

PASSAGEWAY SEALED.

When a crew of miners emerged after their fourth underground visit they told General Denhardt, in command of the militia, that the passageway had been completely sealed.

There had been no more rock falls or cave-ins, it was stated. The swelling apparently had lifted solid rock from the floor to the roof of the cavern. This action closed the passageway for an indefinite distance and may have crushed Collins, if it extended that far.

FOUND WONDER CAVE.

Before he was trapped Collins had found a wonderful cave. Like his father, Floyd was a hunter for sures. There was a thrill about it, Lee Collins, the father, said, "something like Columbus must have felt when he discovered America."

Floyd hoped to find a natural wonder close to Cave City, the nearest railroad point, more beautiful than either Crystal Cave or old Mammoth itself. He was to share whatever profits might accrue.

Somewhere at the end of the tortuous passage, in most places no wider than a man's shoulders, he found the cave. He was coming out when he was caught.

An appeal for funds to supply food and clothing to workers seeking to free Collins was issued today. Lee Collins, the imprisoned man's father, has exhausted his money in purchasing overalls, coffee and food, it was stated.

Cave Prisoner Converted During Long Ordeal

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 5.—So great has been the friction between the various rescuing parties that Governor W. J. Shields ordered Brigadier-General H. H. Denhart, who is also Lieutenant-Governor, to come here with forty soldiers and take complete charge of the situation.

This move was interpreted here as virtually putting this small town under martial law.

The rescue workers, trembling from the effects of the cold and fetid air, squirmed out of the narrow channel opening at 3.30 a. m. their faces broken and bruised from falling rocks and their hands streaming with blood.

"There is no hope," they agreed, "Floyd is walled up."

Lee Collins, sixty-eight-year-old father of the entombed man, cried out that "God's Will" should be done.

Marshall Collins one of Floyd's brothers, declared that he would crawl to within shouting distance and call out to Floyd instructions to prepare his soul for death. The weeping father was inclined to agree with this suggestion.

"Down there almost a hundred feet under the ground Floyd has been converted," the old man said. "God has worked his will and it may be for the best. Upon her deathbed Floyd's mother implored him to get converted. And now at last he had fulfilled her wish. He is going to his mother in Heaven—maybe he had better know so that he can pray to the very last."

But Floyd's other brother, Homer, insisted that Floyd should not be shorn of his hope, no matter how hopeless the situation to those of the outside.

"Up to the very end I want him to believe that we'll get him out," Homer asserted. "He mustn't let go. I am convinced that something can be done."

TO QUESTION 60 STUDENTS IN POISON CASE

task the investigators faced was a threefold one:

To discover who gave out the capsules containing the poison, instead of ones containing quinine which closely resemble the poison.

To find out if possible, the motive, if any, underlying the act, and

To uncover the source of supply of the poison.

A new bottle of strychnine, the presence of which was unknown, was discovered today by Dean Clair A. Dye.

The bottle was revealed in a recheck of the dispensary stock. The bottle contained, perhaps, 75 grains of the poison.

PLOT IS SUSPECTED.

Belief that the poison was intentionally placed in the capsules was strengthened by the finding of definite traces of strychnine in the stomach of David I. Puskin, Canton, Ohio, senior, who died after a brief, violent illness. The only other traces of the poison discovered so far were in a capsule in the possession of Timothy J. McCarthy of Fremont, Ohio, and evidence of the poison in the contents of the stomach of George Thompson, Canton, Ohio.

McCarthy and Thompson are two of the three students taken most violently ill and who have survived.

President W. O. Thompson, in response to numerous telegrams and, letters from anxious parents, reiterated that there was no occasion for alarm and that everything possible was being done to fix responsibility for the use of the poison.

Medicine used to fill prescriptions issued by the student health service is made up in the college pharmacy dispensary.

Students take turns in the pharmacy dispensary. During the six days from January 26 to 31, when the poison capsules apparently were issued, sixty-four students worked in the dispensary.

All three were charged with breaking and entering, and Charbonneau was also charged with driving an automobile without a license.

In the Waltham Court Charbonneau was fined $15 on the charge of driving without a license, and all three were held in $1,000 each on the breaking and entering charge for a hearing February 9.

The garage the trio attempted to break into contained forty new automobiles, a safe with a large amount of money in it, and many valuable automobile accessories.

ease, hailstorms and pestilence will strike the earth."

These annoyances will continue for seven days, Reidt explained. He, his wife, his four children and all his cohorts firmly believe that at midnight tomorrow the Savior will appear in a fire-enveloped cloud, whose brilliance will blind the sight of all the wicked. God's searchlight, Reidt added, will shine from a wood near San Diego.

The 144,000 destined for a residence in Heaven will come from the ends of the earth to that wood, he said.

TO RIDE ON THE CLOUDS

Clouds or some other celestial conveyances will float around San Diego, Reidt said, and all hands will get aboard to begin their seven-day journey to Heaven. The clouds will pause only at Jupiter on Sunday to preserve the Sabbath.

"Why Jupiter?" asked Reidt's interviewers.

"The corona of the eclipse pointed to Jupiter," he said.

POSTAL CLERK NOW DIVIDES PAY BY 11

Arithmetic took a severe whipping today at the cradle-trained hands of John T. Cassidy, postal clerk and father.

He figured that 11 into $1,800 comes out somewhat dilapidated. Mentioning the arrival of triplets in his household to become brothers of six other children, the proud father mused optimistically that he had had a 50 per cent. increase in his family and if now the government would only increase his salary in the same percentage—oh, boy!!

For fifty years, Cassidy has been an optimist. For thirty-two years his outlook, however, has been put to an awful test in the postal service.

Not so many hours ago, Cassidys family at No. 159 Clifton street, Cambridge, consisted of his wife and six children. Then the triplets arrived and now the Cassidy children number nine.

Nine children and two parents add up to eleven individuals. Cassidy's yearly salary is $1,800, which is handed over to him piecemeal.

Figuring it down to weeks, the clerks salary shrinks to $34.615.

So, cutting in evenly on the weekly amount, each of the eleven members of the Cassidy family finds himself or herself buried under the weight of $3.146 as living expenses.

Somehow or other, in spite of his thirty-two years as a postal employe, Cassidy managed to acquire the house in which his brood lives and thrives—but only a postal clerk could do it.

But Cassidy isn't mad! Just to help out, he's taking his vacation now, so he can aid in taking care of the new arrivals, all three of whom are healthy and strong.

"It's lucky I'm able to have my vacation now, so I won't have to hire a housekeeper," said Cassidy.

BALKY AUTO WRECKS FIRE ALARM SIGNAL

A certain type of widely-known and inexpensive automobile is docile and well behaved when properly handled. Let an unsympathetic soul attempt to drive it, however, and it promptly becomes unmanageable, like an outlaw horse.

This happened today when Joseph Ricci attempted to move a light truck on Clinton street. Joseph had a rather sketchy knowledge of the inwardness of the automobile in question. He apparently took liberties with it which it resented by snorting, quivering, and then leaping at a fire alarm box. The box was knocked off its pedestal, and the truck resumed its former meek attitude.

FIVE GUILTY IN MURDER OF GIRL'S SWEETHEART

Bombay, Feb. 5.—Five persons were guilty of conspiracy in the murder of Abdul Kadir Bawla, sweetheart of the beautiful nautch girl, Mumtaz Begum, according to verdict of the coroner's inquest. Mumtaz, who was disfigured by the same assailants who killed her sweetheart, did not appear at the inquest. Police testified that when they arrested Shafi Ahmed, one of the accused, he had 130 pounds sterling.

permit sports and games on the Lord's Day.

Alfred G. Doe, a former baseball player of Atlantic, was in charge of the case for the proponents. The ten original petitioners, some of whom were present and spoke are Joseph F. Conway, former Mayor Charles F. Ashley, New Bedford; Eva D. Coggswell, former Attorney General Herbert Parker; former Senator William A. O'Ahearn, North Adams; Henry L. Bowles, William H. Carter, Frances A. Killilea, Arthur Lyman, former chrman of the Democratic State Committee, and General Charles H. Cole.

The opposition was headed by ex-Representative Samuel Mendum of Woburn, and Martin Kneeland of the Lord's Day League.

Doe denied any professional owners were interested in the bill.

Herbert Parker, speaking in favor of the bill, said that idleness on Sunday creates mischief. He called attention to the fact, that there are more than 1,000 ways of receiving commercial entertainment on Sunday.

General Cole said he believed the people are for the bill. He reminded the committee of the futile attempt to censor the motion pictures, with which the people had no sympathy.

Former Mayor Ashley said that out of a population of 136,000 in New Bedford, 41,000 are employed in mills and therefore never have a chance to see a big baseball game.

to hold their positions they must display more efficiency in connection with their duties at home.

They have enough to do, the superintendent stated, investigating breaks in homes and stores without getting themselves appointed as extradition agents every now and then.

MUST WAKE UP.

One visit to a place which had been robbed, he added, is not enough to satisfy the victim, the police are doing everything possible to apprehend the thieves and recover stolen property. They should make it a point, in addition to the official investigation of a break, to visit the house or store and confer with the person who lost the property concerning any information that may have been obtained, and also to report progress, he stated.

Possibly with the breaks of this week in mind, the Superintendent said special officers should have lists of stolen property and make frequent visits to the pawnbrokers' records division of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation to check up to learn if articles answering their description have been pawned.

Two clothing stores, one at No. 76 Washington street, North End, and the other at No. 2283 Washington street, Roxbury, yielded valuable booty to the thieves.

At No. 76 Washington street, twenty-five suits of clothing and thirty-seven overcoats were stolen.

At the Roxbury store, forty-nine suits of clothing and more than fifty overcoats were taken.

The Regis Radio Shop in the South End paid heavy tribute to the activities of the robber gangs. Four radio tube sets, loud speakers and other accessories were among those plunder taken in this robbery.

From a fur shop at No. 8 Winter street thieves secured a martin fur, skunk tie, seal coat with skunk collar and cuffs and a double fox scarf.

PARKED AUTO ROBBED.

A fastidious thief entered No. 408 Carruth street, Dorchester, selecting as his loot a tan leather suit case in which he packed men's shirts, pearl studs and cuff buttons, pearl grey necktie and a black ribbon fob with a gold slide monogramed "P. A. C."

An apartment at No. 649 Shawmut avenue was entered and a lady's watch, a gentleman's diamond stickpin and a man's gray top coat constituted the loot.

From the apartment at No. 179 Portland street, North End, a gold watch with the inscription "S. F. P. to J. P." was stolen by a sneak thief.

ACTRESSES FLEE HOLLIS HOTEL FIRE

RUN PARTLY CLAD TO STREET

Pandemonium Reigns as Smoke Fills Corridors of Hollis Hotel

Flo Ziegfeld, Earl Carrol or George White would have thrilled with ecstacy and envy had they been passing along Tremont street near the Hollis Hotel, early today.

From the portals of the hostelry dashed yell mell a bevy of bewitching beauties—minus the make-up of the stage, but clad only in these flimsy nothings that the tired business man is glad to pay $4.40 to view from the orchestra pit.

Next door to the hotel, a new building is under construction. Workmen, knocking off for the day, left ladders standing, forming a convenient means of communication between the street and the various floors of the structure.

GIRLS SCRAMBLE OUT.

Down these ladders scrambled fair chorus girls, charming soubrettes—even leading ladies. All seemed eager to reach the street as quickly as possible.

The few milkmen and night hawks who happened to be about at the hour, witnessed, without charge of any kind, or war tax, one of the snappiest beauty reviews ever presented in Boston.

Had Chief Censor Casey been on the job he would have suffered apoplexy.

And just to keep up the atmosphere of the stage, every here and there in the swift moving lines, a gentleman of the chorus, clad only in pajamas or night shirt, displayed snappy foot-work in getting as far as possible from the hotel.

The cause for this impromptu review of beauty and chivalry more or less scantily adorned, was apparent when a dozen pieces of fire apparatus dashed up to the front of the hotel.

Firemen, rushing lines of hose into the building, paused long enough to grab an eye full of the scenery scattered all about on the street and sidewalk.

Once inside the hotel, the firemen discovered that the blaze which had made the huge clouds of smoke which drove out the guests, was confined to the basement. The fire was confined to the rear of the basement and two lines of hose were sufficient to extinguish the fire, which damaged the hotel to the extent of $5,000.

The Hollis is a theatrical hotel and nearly 200 guests, principally girls, were in their rooms when the fire started.

Dense smoke poured up the elevator shaft from the basement and filled all the floors.

STAGE GIRLS ROUTED BY FIRE

GIRL, LURED BY STAGE OFFER, IS ATTACKED

Brockton, Feb. 5.—Luring pretty Beatrice Love, of the Hotel Belmont, to the outskirts of the city on the pretence of discussing a theatrical contract, two local young men attacked the girl and left her on Ellsworth street early today.

Later, when the young woman returned, hysterical, to the hotel, the youths started to follow her inside, but were arrested by Patrolman John Lyons.

They were booked as Harold Guerin of High street, and William Houlihan of Nilson street, both being identified by Miss Love as her assailants.

In District court today they pleaded not guilty and were held in $1,000 each until Monday.

According to the girl's story, she was present at a dance in Canton Hall this city, which lasted into the early hours. Shortly after midnight two well-dressed men, about twenty-five years of age, approached her, she said, and said they were in the theatrical profession. They told the girl according to her story, that they thought they could get her a contract with a theatrical company.

Miss Love said their story sounded plausible, and when they suggested taking a walk to discuss details, she readily agreed. The walk continued until they reached a deserted spot on Ellsworth street, where she said the attack occurred.

In the meantime Patrolman Lyons had seen the group and recognized Guerin and Houlihan. When the two youths returned to the center of the city without the girl, Lyons followed them.

They took up a position near the entrance of the Belmont Hotel, and some time later, when Miss Love made her appearance, started to follow her inside. The arrests followed

KIN OF EBERT DEPORTED AS STOWAWAY

New York, Feb. 4.—Willie Ebert, who is said by immigration authorities to be a nephew of President Ebert of Germany, and who came here as a stowaway last month to make his fortune, was deported today on the Albert Ballin.

With him went August Eizenhofer. Both were captured in Boston January 21 in the coal bunkers of the Norwegian freighter Talisman, on which they had stowed away at Hamburg. They had eaten nothing for two days when found and their only clothes were trousers and shirts. Each is twenty-one years old.

"I'll earn enough money at home to buy my passage to America," Ebert said on sailing. "Then I'll come back here and make my fortune."

Aboard the steamer was a staff of United States postal clerks, marking reopening of postal service on the Hamburg-American line by the United States Government. This service was suspended when the United States entered the World War.

CHELSEA JUNK MEN ACCUSED AS FAGINS

Four Chelsea junk dealers, charged by the police with being modern Fagins of the worst type, have been rounded up and arrested, after raids on their junk yards brought to light stolen copper wire worth a small fortune.

Boys of fourteen years of age and under were obtained by these junkmen to steal from the Boston & Albany freight yards, the police say.

Four boys, all of tender years, who have been questioned by the police, admit their part in the wholesale thefts they declare were engineered by the junkmen.

Upon information furnished by these boys, the police conducted the raids and later arrested the proprietors of the establishments. The men arrested are Philip Shaffer of No. 28 Essex street; George A. Presse of No. 20 Second street; Solomon Kupetsack of No. 223 Second street and Harry Dromansky of No. 115 Orange street, all of Chelsea.

CUT WAGES OF SHOE WORKERS IN HAVERHILL

Haverhill, Feb. 5.—A 10 per cent. reduction in piece rates paid on all operations in the making of growing girls' shoes, in local shoe industry, was granted today by Chairman Edward Newdick at the Shoe Board of Arbitration.

This award is expected to give great stimulus to the large mail order business now done in this city, placing Haverhill in competition with all other cities making the same class of shoes.

Haverhill has three big factories that are immediately benefitted by this award. The increase in the volume of business is expected to prevent loss of earnings to the shoeworkers.

Chairman Newdick was assisted by Stewart Chase of a New York labor bureau in making his investigation into the case. Manufacturers opened their books to his examination and on the basis of his findings the board made its award.

HEIR TO MILLION HELD FOR NON-SUPPORT

Word has been received here of the arrest of Harry J. Middleby, forty-eight, at Los Angeles, charged with desertion and abandonment of his twelve-year-old son, Edward Middleby, and failure to support him since November 17, 1917.

A Middlesex County officer is on the way to California to get the prisoner. The complaint was made by Middleby's wife, Mrs. Jennie W. Middleby, of No. 66 Cherry street, Malden, who says that she has been forced to work to support the boy.

His mother, living at Long Beach, Calif., is said to have the custody of a $1,000,000 estate left by Middleby's father.

BOY COASTER KILLED AS HE CRASHES INTO STUMP

A tree stump caused the death of Arthur G. Dunlavy, ten-year-old coaster, when he crashed into it at the foot of the Harvard street hill in Wollaston.

Roger Call, a playmate, discovered his chum's plight and called his brother, Chester Call, who carried the injured boy to his home nearby.

Chester Call.

Dr. J. E. Fitzgerald and Dr. Elmon R. Johnson discovered that young Arthur had suffered a broken spine. He died a short time after being taken home.

It is believed the youth lost control of his sled on the icy hill, as he had negotiated the coast safely several times previously.

PROBE OF SIX-CENT FARE ON ELEVATED IS URGED

Investigation of a six-cent fare on a certain line of the Boston Elevated and the building of a bridge to East Boston over the harbor, were favored by the members of the United Improvement Association.

The members also voted to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce in the investigation of the electrification of the railways in Greater Boston; and to endorse the bill in the Legislature for the completion of the Mattapan loop and electrify the Midland division of the New Haven.

OLD SCHOONER SINKS OFF FISH PIER

The schooner James and Ella sank at its moorings off the Fish Pier and lies submerged at high water. The boat is owned by the Standard Oil Company, and contained a considerable quantity of gasoline. It is supposed the boat was either struck by a passing vessel or was cut through by heavy drift ice.

Arrangements have been made with a wrecking company to raise the boat.

MALDEN PREACHER, 100, PERFORMS MARRIAGE

The Rev. E. S. Best, retired Methodist clergyman, of No. 92 Lawrence street, Malden, is still sprightly enough to perform such little jobs as marriages, etc., despite the fact that he is more than 100 years old.

The latest wedding to the credit of Mr. Best is that of Miss Gladys Catherine MacLeod of Squantum and Russell Windsor Page, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Page of East Boston.

Twenty-two years ago the pastor performed the ceremony which united Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. MacLeod, parents of the bride and it was at the request of the parents that their daughter was married by the retired clergyman.

ONLY FAMILY MEN FOR STOKES CASE JURORS

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Twelve Chicago men are in danger of separation from their wives and families for from a month to six weeks because the prosecution wants only men of family to hear the trial of W. E. McDUFFEE HONORED AT DARTMOUTH "POTLATCH"

Dartmouth's annual "Potlatch" gathered her loyal sons from far and near at the Copley Plaza. Some 400 strong, from oldest grads to the youngest alumnus, they decked their heads with the green-feathered insignia of the Dartmouth tribe, pledged anew their loyalty to their old alma mater, and joined in an evening of brilliant speaking and amusing "stunts."

One of the features was the ovation to Franklin McDuffee, son of a country newspaper editor in Rochester, N. H., and who astounded the world of letters a few months ago when he won the Newdigate prize with his poem "Michelangelo," written while he was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, Eng.

OFFICERS FREE TO TALK, SAYS WILBUR

Denies That Naval Men Are "Gagged" in Regard to Aircraft Controversy

Washington, Feb. 5.—The House Aircraft Committee considering charges that army and navy officers are gagged by their superiors on questions of military policy was informed by Secretary Wilbur today that naval officers are free to express their views fully.

"I wish to assure you," the Secretary said in a letter to Chairman Lampert of the committee, "that they are perfectly free to state fully and fairly all facts within their knowledge not of a confidential or secret character, and fully to express their opinions on any matters into which your committee desires to inquire."

The committee had been told by Representative Perkins, Republican, New Jersey, that three naval officers had asked to be excused from testifying because of a fear of disciplinary measures, and that he had been informed that Rear Admiral Moffett, the navy's chief of aeronautics, might lose his post because of his persistent efforts for a larger air force.

Wilbur's letter was placed before the committee at a session called to consider a resolution which would express dissent from army plan to deprive Brigadier General Mitchell of reappointment as assistant chief of the army air service.

The reappointment is being held up by Secretary Weeks pending an explanation of some of the general's statements on aviation policies.

CHARGES PATROLMAN'S LANGUAGE IS IMPROPER

A complaint was filed today with Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson charging Patrolman George McCaffery, on special duty in District Attorney O'Brien's office, with discourtesy and language unbecoming an officer. The complainant, Attorney Sherman Sayles, says McCaffery addressed him in an unbecoming manner as they were leaving court. McCaffery, although stationed in the district attorney's office, is still under orders from Captain Jeremiah Gallivan, so the complaint was turned over to the latter.

Congratulations Showered on Buds Elected to Vincent Club

Evelyn Windeler and Catharine Robb Among Fortunate Girls

By Betty Alden

CONGRATULATIONS were flying thick and fast last evening at the Opera House to Evelyn Windeler and Catharine Robb, on the news of their election to the Vincent Club.

TO BE ELECTED to the Junior League and to the Vincent Club are the two feathers which every debutante longs to pin to the cap of her achievement the first Winter out.

AND THESE TWO girls, with about a dozen others, were taken into the Vincent Club at yesterday's meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Herrick, Jr., in Beacon street.

MRS. HERRICK, by the way, was a radiant figure at the Opera in sable wrap and pouch tinted gown in the Bristow Draper box where she and Mr. Herrick and Mr. and Mrs. Nat Ayer were guests.

MRS. AYER WORE a girlish frock of pale gray taffeta with lace, one of the swinging bouffant affairs so becoming to her slender "dresden shepherdess beauty.

I SAW CATHARINE ROBB in the second act promenade, when all Boston's Mayfair, seemingly, was on parade. Catharine is the daughter of the Russell Robbs, of Concord and Boston. Last evening her gown was a bright coral.

EVELYN WINDELER'S frock also glowed that brilliant color, with metal threads set through it. Her wrap was a black satin mandarin coat, embroidered in colors, its lining of coral satin matching her gown in tint.

SHE WAS ONE OF the young girls in Mrs. Graeme Haughton's box. Elizabeth Penno, in cerise chiffon, Virginia Lee in beaded crepe were there, and Helen Sargent in gray.

THEIR DUENNAS WERE the youthful Mrs. Talbot Chase, in gray, and Mrs. Parker Converse, in black. Just near them I saw Kathleen Rotch, Anne Tudor and Olivia Howard, in Mrs. John Chipman Gray's box.

THOSE THREE WERE a handsome trio. Kathleen Rotch's gown was gold cloth, Anne Tudor's a lovely clear white, and Olivia Howard's an oyster white, fairly covered with pearly iridescent beads. Her wrap added to the scintillating picture, a bejeweled gold metal cloth with cloth of gold collar.

LOUISE AND DOROTHY RATCHELDER had orchestra seats, and Eleanor was there with her fiance, Mr. Crocker. Dorothy, eldest of the Ratcheder girls, was in bright red satin, very becoming to her dark coloring, and Eleanor was in Flemish blue.

ELLEN WHITNEY and Theresa deNormandie were in a youthful box party. Theresa in black chiffon with touches of flame red, and Ellen Whitney in ombre chiffon, one of the orchid colorings, shading from palest mauve to cerise.

MR. AND MRS. WALLACE GOODRICH had the Marchesa Perrante in their box. Her gown, a black velvet beaded in cut steel and crystals, and Mrs. Goodrich's emerald velvet were both regal affairs. Mrs. Goodrich wore one of the very loveliest head dresses in the Opera House.

IT WAS A BROAD band of brilliants, and bound her smoothly coiffed head in marcellous effect. Her wrap was ermine.

LOUISE FESSENDEN, in black, was charming. She and her sisters, Mrs. Ollie Ames and Mrs. Frederick Buck, are receiving the warmest of greetings wherever they put in an appearance in the social fling after their period of bereavement.

MRS. FRANCIS GRAY wore pale orchid satin, and Mrs. Robert Saltonstall was in a brilliant blue, a most becoming gown. Dorothy Weld and her mother, Mrs. A. Winsor Weld, were glimpsed in the promenade (that was a perfect crush, by the way).

MRS. WELLS GOWN was bronze beads on net, and Dorothy's soft pink, something between American Beauty and the rambler tint. Dorothy Weld is a remarkably clever skater, one of the most talented in the younger set, and many an hour does she spend at the Arena practising the twirls and spirals.

OF COURSE SHE has at hand advice and instruction of the most excellent, for her elder sister is none other than the famous amateur champion skater, Mrs. Theresa Weld Blanchard.

SPEAKING OF AMERICAN Beauty Red brings to mind Mrs. Hugh Rancroft and her opera gown of that gorgeous color. It was of velvet, smartly draped, and worn under a rich fur wrap.

MRS. RALPH FLANDERS is often the hostess, and frequently is seen in her box at the right of the horseshoe. She wears various shades of blue, and last evening was in deepest sapphire with silver traceries.

THE CRUSH OF THE evening, when Society applauded the new soprano and gave that charming songstress a perfect ovation accompanied by many, many flowers, was but a repetition of the afternoon's outpouring.

AGAIN IT WAS an afternoon for the youngest set, the boys to do the thing up brown and reap and girls of school age, and the another fine, full, financial harvest buds and year-out girls. Mrs. for their pet Hospital.

MISS SUZANNE APSEY and her mother, Mrs. Albert Apsey, are opera devotees and may be seen frequently in the throngs at the Opera House during the present season. Suzanne is a bud of this Winter. (Photo by Bachrach.)

Society's Children Occupy Choice Seats at Performance by Chicago Opera Co.

Bobier Welsh's little daughter was in the Welsh box, and Mrs. Farnham Greene had her young son with her.

JEAN AND NANCY PATTEN and Helen Grew occupied one of the centre boxes, I believe Mrs. Scott Fitz's. Theodora Ayer attended, in a small black frock, and I also saw Caroline Towle, wearing an embroidered gown.

BETTY SOULE IN willow green and Edith Parker in black velvet strolled about together, and apparently shared some greatly diverting secret.

ELEANOR MUSGRAVE was at the matinee also. Eleanor is slated for bridal honors some time in the month of brides and roses, and she'll make a winsome bride, so I safely predict.

SUCH EXTREMELY smart matrons as I saw flitting in and out of the boxes during the Intermissions. For one, there was Mrs. Gorham Brooks, distinguished in a frock of dull black crepe with small bead ornaments, her hat the new casque effect, black and close fitting.

MRS. FRANK SHAW and Mrs. Harold Coolidge were others. Mrs. Shaw wore one of the printed bandannas with her brown frock, and Mrs. Coolidge followed the ensemble mode, done in brown velvet and fox furs.

ALSO MRS. TIMOTHEE ADAMOWSKI, Mrs. Clarence Edwards and Mrs. Alexander Whiteside. Mrs. Whiteside wore a costume of the bois de rose, and Mrs. Edwards black with ermine. Very chic, indeed, was the popular wife of the popular general.

MRS. ALVIN SORTWELL was still another matron in the smartest of attire. She was in brown, a rich dark tone, with deep fox furs to match, and Mrs. George von L. Meyer, the handsome Frances Saltonstall that was, wore a sable wrap and gown of brown.

BUT FASCINATING and brilliant as is the chronicle of opera, the Vincent Club and its election of new members calls for further comment. Aside from Catharine Robb and Evelyn Windeler, the small group to receive the accolade of membership includes Rosamond Borland, Elizabeth Lockwood, Frances Dewart, Ellen Frothingham and Isabel Shaw.

ALSO MARGARET FORBES, Janet Sabine, Marian Greene, Elizabeth Patterson, Susan Howe, Emily Thompson, Alice Lowell and Margaret Grannis.

THE SPRING PLAY to be staged by the Vincent Club is from the pens of Mrs. Maurice Osborne and Mrs. Charles Greely Loring, as yet unnamed, but sure to be clever with those matrons as co-authors.

APRIL 16, 17 AND 18 are the dates, and the Opera House is selected for the production. Between now and then there is a long and arduous trail of rehearsals and other details, but trust the Vincent Club to do the thing up brown and reap the another fine, full, financial harvest

BELGIAN ENVOY PRESENTS FLAG TO BOSTON

Reception by Mayor Curley at City Hall Followed by Luncheon

In appreciation of what the City of Boston did for Belgium during the World War, that country today, through Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, Belgian Ambassador to the United States, formally presented to the city a silk Belgian flag.

The presentation took place at noon on the steps of City Hall, where a large delegation of prominent Belgians of Boston and other parts of the State attended the exercises, together with a large crowd of city officials and others who thronged the courtyard of City Hall.

The flag, the regulation standard of Belgium, of red, yellow and blue, was carried by Frank Vranken of East Boston, a former soldier of the Belgian Army, attached to the Intelligence Department, who, for two years was a prisoner in Ghent during the war. He wore the regulation soldier's uniform of Belgium.

In a short speech of appreciation, the Ambassador, who came on from Washington, especially for the presentation, presented the colors to the city. Mayor Curley received the flag and thanked the Ambassador on behalf of the city in a short speech.

The party then went to the Parker House, where a luncheon was tendered the guests by the city.

JUDGE SCORES POLICE WITNESS; FINES BOOTLEG

Although he characterizedthe testimony of the chief witness for the police "shameless perjury," Judge Parmenter today fined Samuel Servonick of No. 16 Lynde street $200 for illegal sale and possesion of liquor. Samuel Burrage, on whose testimony the complaint against Servonick was issued, "forgot" where he made a purchase of liquor when called to the stand. Servonick's family has been identified with liquor law violations before. His father died at Deer Island while serving a sentence for liquor selling and his mother recently paid a liquor fine of $500.

TEXTILE DEPRESSION CALLED WORLDWIDE

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 5.—Agent W. Parker Shaw of the Amoskeag Mills, who returned this week from Europe said today: "It is evident when one looks over the world at large that the textile depression is not confined to this section of the country but is really world wide with the odds in favor, I believe, with the United States. Industrial conditions in England are very unsatisfactory."

NEIGHBORS HONOR FIRE CAPTAIN WITH DINNER

Captain Michael J. Norton, of Engine 21, Uphams Corner fire station, was presented with an engraved watch, at a dinner in his honor in the fire house. The dinner was given him as a token of esteem on the occasion of his recent appointment as head of the new Fire Prevention Bureau at fire headquarters. Captain Norton is president of the Uphams Corner Improvement Association.

TAXI DRIVERS REJECT OFFERS OF EMPLOYERS

Proposals of Companies Temporarily Halts Strike Action, However

Although counter-proposals made by the taxicab companies of Boston have been rejected by the union taxicab drivers who are threatening a strike, the effect of the proposals has been to temporarily hold up strike action.

The union taxicab drivers are seeking a flat rate of $4.50 for a 9-hour day with 90 cents an hour for overtime, instead of a $4 day rate and 55 cents an hour for overtime as at present.

The taxicab companies in their latest offer, agreed to pay $3.50 for 10 hours work with a commission of 20 per cent. of all amounts over $5 collected by day men and 20 per cent. of all over $10 taken in fares by the night men.

The union leaders rejected this offer but said that the scale which the union signed with the Premier Company would be acceptable. This scale provides for a commission of 30 per cent. for all amounts over $10 taken in by day drivers and the same percentage of all amounts over $12 collected by night drivers.

Dart of the Witwatersrand University is described as the skull of an animal, not human, but more intelligent than the gorilla or chimpanzee, although unable to talk.

The great step came when Homo Alalus, the speechless man, acquired speech. Then he could tell others what he knew. The father could tell the son, and knowledge began to accumulate.

HOWEVER, WHILE it would be interesting to find that link, half way between the manape and the ape-man, it would be still more pleasant to know what the ultimate descendant of men is to be like, and what he will be doing two or three hundred million years from now, when this earth reaches its full age, and the time comes for us all to pass on to one of the younger planets in our solar system, or on to some other system.

AN EFFORT is made to "formulate a code of academic freedom," to decide just what teachers in universities may and may not tell the young people.

The need of such a code is not clear. Teachers should be allowed to say whatever they believe to be true. The student should be allowed to say what he thinks.

ANY OTHER course is worthy of a Mohammedan school. There the teacher, with a long stick in his hand that enables him to hit any child on the head without moving from his seat, forces the children to recite passages from the Koran over and over. Such schools should, of course, be provided for such people. They need them.

WHEN THE CALIPH ordered the wonderful library at Alexandria to be burned, thus depriving all future time of magnificent works of genius, he said simply: "If those books repeat what is in the Koran they are superfluous, so burn them. If they do not repeat what is in the Koran, they are pernicious, so burn them."

That was all right for a Caliph, but those that govern modern universities, including rich men that endow them, are not Mohammedans.

AT A NATURALLY steam-heated place called The Geysers in California, workmen, drilling, discovered a living well of steam power 461 feet down.

The power of the steam sent hot water and steam 300 feet into the air, carrying up a 200-pound weight, also the winch and other drilling equipment.

ENGINEERS WILL try to harness this well of natural power to a machine for making electricity.

That ought to be a valuable part of the miraculous land of California. An oil well spouts and soon dies out. This steam well might go on supplying power forever. And power is all you get from an oil well.

MAN INDICTED FOR ROBBERY IN PROVIDENCE

New Bedford, Feb. 5.—The Bristol County grand jury reported in the Superior Court returning 45 indictments. Ivan Pankiewicz, Fall River, was indicted for second degree murder in killing Max Demkow in a New Year's brawl in Fall River. Manuel Pacheco, Jr., and James L. Mingo, New Bedford, were indicted for conspiracy to rob, and beadles Pacheco was indicted for robbery of Samuel Grundy.

Manuel Vieira, New Bedford, was indicted for assault with intent to murder his wife, Mary, in an insane fit of jealousy when she attempted to leave her home a short time ago.

"BOZ" DINNER TO BE REPRODUCED

The famous "Boz" dinner given in honor of Charles Dickens in Boston on February 1, 1842, will be reproduced Saturday night by the Boston branch of the Dickens Fellowship at the Unity House, Cambridge. Dickens himself and all the guests present at the original dinner will be impersonated. Dickens' part will be taken by Frederick G. Pachard, Jr., graduate of Harvard in 1920. Richard H. Dana, 3d, will impersonate his father, Richard Henry Dana, Jr.

At the request of the Fellowship, Widener Library is exhibiting a collection of books and pamphlets illustrating the life of the famous writer.

B. U. TO START LECTURE COURSE FOR MERCHANTS

A fifteen-course lecture series for merchants and their executives will start Friday at the College of Business Administration of Boston University.

Felix Vorenberg, vice-president and sales manager of the Filtrical Company, is chairman of the committee which arranged the lectures. Others on the committee are George W. Mitton, president of the Jordan Marsh Company; George B. Johnson, president of the B. H. White Company; Dean Everett W. Lord of the college, Professor T. M. B. Hicks of the department of sales relations, and Professor Harold Whitehead.

OLD SHOEMAKER LOST FORTUNE OF $1,500,000

Moscow, Idaho, Feb. 5.—Papers found among the effects of Constantine Lynch, aged shoemaker of Deary, Idaho, who died a month ago, revealed that he once had a fortune of about $1,500,000 and was elected Republican Governor of Maryland, but kept from office by charges of irregularities, according to testimony in Probate Court here.

Lynch's estate of $1,500,000 was probated and J. A. Hatch, banker of Deary, named administrator. The time and place of Mr. Lynch's former home are not ascertained.

CHARLESTOWN NURSES GIVE MINSTREL SHOW

The student nurses of the Charlestown Hospital, Cambridge repeated their minstrel show and dancing party.

Because of the success of the function, which was held in aid of the endowment fund of the nurses of the Charlesgate Hospital, it was decided to make the show and dansent an annual affair. The dancing party, following the entertainment, continued until midnight.

FREE-FOR-ALL PUZZLE TEST FASCINATING

Boston Evening American's $250 Weekly Problems Easy if You Try Them

The tie that binds. Your entrance in a free-for-all competition.

Mental brawn pitted against mental brawn. Keen wit vieing with keen wit.

Once you've started in the race and even if the going for the novice becomes a little too stiff, don't give way to the other fellow or girl. It's an easy matter to quit, but it reveals what stuff you're made of when you firmly hold on, though the odds for the time are discouraging.

There's nothing about The Boston Evening American's Weekly Cross-word Puzzle Contest, now in its third week, to discourage you. The puzzles abound in simplicity and in-terest.

The Boston Evening American crossword puzzle contests have at-tained wide popularity and are being continued to give all fans a chance to get their share of the weekly $250 cash purse.

To get that capital prize of $100 all you are asked to do is solve each of the weekly group as it ap-pears in the American from day to day and send in the entire sextette at the end of the week.

If the $100 prize doesn't go your way, you have a choice of seventeen other currency handouts. Second place gets you $50, third place, $25, and fifteen successive places, $5.

Keep slinging your pencil and exer-cising your wits while the American maintains its crossword puzzle line at the cashier's window. Make your wits pay while the cash register grinds.

Solve six puzzles and hand in your ticket for the $100 award.

Two more days and the third week's crossword spring will have run its course. Will you be among this week's victors? Why not?

$100,000 CONDITIONAL GIFT FOR WELLESLEY

A conditional gift of $100,000 has been made to Wellesley College by Edward Stephen Harkness of New York. Under the terms of the gift, the money will be used toward the construction of a $300,000 dormitory building on Tower Court Hill, the college to raise the other $200,000 by April 1.

Completion of the proposed dormi-tory will give the college three dor-mitories on the hill—the other two being the Tower itself and Clafin Hall.

LOEW EMPLOYES' BALL AT STRAND TOMORROW

The third annual entertainment and dancing party of the employes of the Loew Theatres of Boston will take place tomorrow night at the Strand Ballroom, Jamaica Plain. The committee has arranged an elab-orate program which enlists the services of many of the vaudeville headliners appearing this week at the various theatres. The music will be furnished by two orchestras, com-prising more than a score of musi-cians.

LOWER COURT REVERSED IN APARTMENT CASE

Jacob Sorkin and his associates may not erect a building within 25 feet of the exterior of Fresh Pond Parkway. The full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court, in an opin-ion written by Judge Sanderson, rules that Judge Weed of the Su-perior Court erred in dismissing the bill of Charles W. Elliot and others to enjoin Sorkin from putting up the proposed brick 25-apartment house.

WHEELER NAMED UNITED FRUIT TRAFFIC MANAGER

NEW PICTURE PLAY COMBINE FORECAST

New York, Feb. 5.—Official an-nouncement that Cecil De Mille will join forces with the Producers' Dis-tributing Corporation, is expected to be made tomorrow, it was learned today from persons close to the director. De Mille is reported to have taken over the Thomas H. Ince Studios at Culver City where he will make ten special pictures a year, be-sides other productions.

SCARLET FEVER CLOSES HOLDEN HIGH SCHOOL

Holden, Feb. 5.—Holden High School was closed by order of the Board of Health in an effort to stamp out scarlet fever, which threatens an epidemic. Six cases have been reported at the school. No cases have been reported among pupils in the grammar schools, al-though several older residents of the town are under treatment.

SINKERS

FLOATERS

The flavor of this cracker owes much to its shape (patented). The notched sides form vent holes in the sheet of crackers as they bake.

This assures through and through baking. In addition this cracker is more convenient to eat—doesn't crumble and can readily be split in two.

As with muffins the trick is to get them plump

THE wide difference between a sad, depressed muffin, and one of the joyous, fluffy kind, brings a realization of how much there is to know about baking.

Ingredients, dough mixing, rais-ing, and even the oven, are each a hero or a villain, depending on the way they help or spoil the bake.

We now know what makes a cracker puffy and plump. Why it is that this new Sunshine Soda Cracker has an added flavor all its own, and why soda crackers are not just soda crackers.

It is one thing to make a cracker once in a while with these character-istics, but quite another to secure them constantly. A day in and day out excellence means just one thing —a process of baking.

The New Sunshine Soda Cracker—made by the FULL GRAIN PROCESS

Uniformity is the first essential in the baking of this soda cracker.

In the case of flour, uniformity is a problem. It has been said that it was an impossible problem.

But laboratories are always working miracles. Flour can be blended so as to be just right year in and year out.

In the raising of the dough, and in the mixing of it, there are many other pitfalls, and again in the fermenting, in the temperature regulation, and in the very speed of kneading. Weather, humidity, and a dozen other things must be constantly kept in check.

Furthermore, in the actual working of the dough there are secrets known to but few of us. The matching of all these conditions can be held day in and day out in only one way—by a fixed process, the result of which is a better tasting, nourishing, good looking soda cracker.

It has been fairly shown so far that this new Sunshine Soda Cracker is all that we say it is. May we hope you like it as well as so many others do.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Mrs. Miles Was Miserable a Long Time—Owes Final Recovery to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege-table Compound

Dover, Ohio.—"After my last baby was born I was up and around again, but I was sickly all the time and did not know how to get my work done. I had washed a heavy carpet and I think that was the cause of my troubles. I went to several doctors, but their medi-cines did not do me any good. I asked what the trouble was, for I could hardly walk and al-ways had such pains in my left side and then in my right side. He told me I had inflammation that caused it. I had one of your text-books and was reading it, and I thought I would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound. After four days of taking it I began to feel better, so I took three bottles without missing a dose. That helped me more than any other medi-cine I had yet taken and I always have it handy now. It surely did put me on my feet again."—Mrs. JAMES MILES, 413 Cherry Street, Dover, Ohio.

STABS SISTER IN HOSPITAL, THEN SELF

Providence, Feb. 5.—Drawing a dirk from a package while visiting his sister in the Rhode Island Hospital, Pasco Cuozzo, 35, stabbed the woman in the breast, inflicting injuries that may prove fatal.

Then, throwing off the student nurse who attempted to grapple with him, the brother stabbed himself twice, rushed to an elevator well and hurled himself into the pit, suffering another deep cut.

He was overpowered in the well and was stripped to a hospital bed by doctors and orderlies.

It is believed that Cuozzo, who was injured last November in a fall, became excited over his sister's illness and attempted to take her life and end his own. She was under observation to determine the state of her mentality.

Held In Shooting

Worcester, Feb. 5.—Henry Freeman, thirty-five, arrested in a lumber camp in Otis for alleged intent to murder Andrew Maulia, forty, in the latter's shack, Princeton, January 7, has been turned over to Princeton police. Maulia was shot and later died of blood poison.

HOW ROSLINDALE BOY WAS RUN DOWN

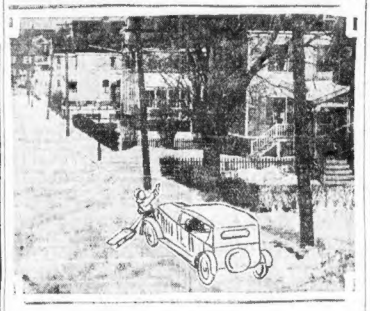

Photo shows how little Fred J. McDonald, of Roslindale, was struck by an auto while at play today. Police say the car was stolen. The boy escaped with bruises. Inset is young McDonald.

TOLD TO TEACH LATIN, TURNS ON THE GAS

New ork, Feb. 5.—David Atkinson, twenty-two, a public school teacher, committed suicide by gas today at his home because, police said, of his appointment to teach Latin instead of history, his favorite subject.

Fred J. McDonald, twelve years old of Roslindale, was knocked down and injured at Cohasset and Albino streets, Roslindale, by an automobile said to have been stolen.

The boy was removed to his home and treated by a physician for abrasions.

According to the police the machine was stolen from in front of the Hillside Lunch, Washington street, while the driver, John E. Todd, was inside. The police say the machine when it struck the boy was driven by John B. White of Hempstead road, Jamaica Plain.

WOULD LIMIT ME. FUNDS TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Augusta, Me., Feb. 5.—A resolve to amend the Constitution so public funds shall be expended for no schools other than those under the management and control of public school officials and subject to the jurisdiction of the State Commissioner of Education, as directed by the Legislature, was introduced in the House today by Representative Hollis W. Stitham of Pittsfield. The resolve, which declares the University of Maine is a public institution, would be subject to a referendum at the next biennial election and, if adopted, would become effective July 1, 1929.

MISTRIAL PLEA FOR STONEHAM IS DENIED

New York, Feb. 5.—Federal Judge Winslow refused today to declare a mistrial in the cases of Charles A. Stoneham, part owner of the New York Giants, and five others accused of using the mails to defraud. Defense objected to the publication in newspapers of the judge's statement the evidence showed both the Stoneham and the Dier brokerage firms had "bucketed outrageously." The judge said newspapers were within their rights in printing what was said in court.

CROKER'S WIDOW SUED FOR FLORIDA PROPERTY

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 5.—As a climax to negotiations said to have been conducted with Mrs. Rula Croker, widow of the late Tammany Hall chieftain, for the purchase of a part of th estate now in her possession, in Palm Beach County, attorneys for J. B. McDonald, and the Palm Beach Estates have filed a suit in Federal Court here, claiming a right to the property. Title to the Croker homestead, willed by Richard Croker, Sr., to his wife, is sought by the Croker children in a suit now pending in Federal Court.

WOOD SENDS TROOPS TO CURB FILIPINO TENANTS

Manila, Feb. 5 (A.P.).—Governor-General Leonard Wood ordered a company of constabulary troops to the Province of Nueva Ecija because of threatened trouble between land owners and tenants. According to reports, the trouble was provoked by labor organizationsw hich encourage tenants to storm rice plantations and to take by force their share of the crops before settling debts contracted for during the growing season.

BRITISH COLUMBIA SNOWSLIDES KILL 2

Nelson, B. C., Feb. 5.—Two lives have been lost, a railway line has been closed for the season, and a house has been demolished by Kootenay snowslides in the past twenty-four hours, following thaw and rain.

A snowslide at Queen's Bay demolished the ranch house of John H. Hoyle, killing the owner and his wife in their beds.

WHT In Air Soon

Chicago, Feb. 5.—A new radio station, to be known as WHT, will be on the air shortly. It will be in the Wrigley Building. William Hale Thompson, former Mayor of Chicago, whose initials make up the station's call, is president of the operating corporation.

FIND NO PROOF OF BOYCOTT ON COFFEE

Washington, Feb. 5.—Probable decreases in the purchase of coffee, due to high prices and reduced consumption in the United States, was seen by officials of the Commerce Department today as reasons for reports in Brazil of an American boycott against the commodity. Officials of the department have no evidence of an organized boycott in the United States, but said many complaints had been received of high prices.

Accountant Found Dying

Arthur Kuhn, an expert accountant, with offices at No. 518 Tremont Building, was found unconscious at the rear door of the building in Province place today. He was sent to Haymarket Relief Hospital and died.

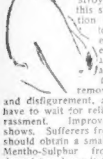
SULPHUR CLEARS SKIN RIGHT UP

Even Itching Eczema Is Helped Over Night by Mentho-Sulphur



Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm. It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent, it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

If Food Causes Stomach Trouble

It Blasting, Gassiness, Heartburn, Sour Stomach or Such Distresses Follow Meals Be Sure to Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

A good appetite for the savory dishes, some actual enjoyment as they say, "from soup to nuts," is one of life's chief enjoyments. Then, on the other hand, stomach distress afterward is one of life's chief disappointments. To enjoy eating and feel perfectly well one should follow meals with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They aid digestion, they stop sour fermentation, they take up the sour feelings and gases, they sweeten the stomach by giving it its alkaline effect and they also stimulate secretions in the stomach and intestines.

Thus, whether you eat pork and beans, sausage and sauerkraut, cake, mince pie and cheese, or the foods that most people consider of making the stomach uneasy and sour, you experience that happy state of enjoyable, solid comfort.

Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at the drug store. Then eat heartily of all the good things of the table. It is surely the best road to continued good health.

SCHWARZ IS IN FINE VOICE IN 'RIGOLETTO'

By MOSES SMITH

As the opera season draws to a close the enthusiasm of the audience becomes greater. This was the case at yesterday's performances at the Opera House, where the Chicago Company sang "Rigoletto at night and "Madame Butterfly" in the afternoon before crowded houses. "Rigoletto" is hailed as Verdi's great work. It would be pleasing to be able to say that Miss Toti dal Monte, the brilliant coloratura soprano, who made her first and only appearance, dominated the whole production, but the truth is that Joseph Schwarz, playing Rigoletto, carried off this honor. Miss dal Monte lived up to advance notices, displaying a voice that is especially clear in the high tones.

Mr. Schwarz was truly an inspired Rigoletto. There was no questioning the power of the tragedy while he sang. His gestures were many and varied, never stilted, and could well be a model for other operatic actors to follow. In the role of the Duke, Charles Hackett substituted for Alfred Piccover.

In "Madame Butterfly," Edith Mason was heard in the leading role. She was most satisfactory as the pitiful Cho-Cho-San, her singing, as usual, covering her with glory. Her acting was more natural than heretofore, and she makes, in general, a notable Butterfly. Pinkerton, was played by Forrest Lamont. He too was in good voice. Giacomo Rimini was seen and heard at his best in the role of Sharpless. Mr. Polacco gave a fine reading of the score.

Tonight's bill is Montemezzi's "Love of Three Kings," with Mary Garden and Messrs. Ameseui, Ialnaloff, and Lazzari as the principal singers, and with the composer present to grace the occasion.

5 STUDENTS JAILED IN RIO T OVER CO-ED BAN

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 5—Aroused by the insistence of Dr. F. A. MacKenzie, president of Fisk University, that the ruin against men and women students walking together on the campus and streets should be observed strictly, 100 male students joined in a demonstration which police suppressed only after pistols were fired from Livingston Hall and disorderly scenes enacted on the campus.

Five students were jailed on charges of inciting riot.

SAYS SHE BIT TONGUE OF MAN KISSING HER

Young Cambridge Wife Demands $5,000 for Alleged Attack by Grocer

All the great lovers are not in the movies, according to the testimony of Mrs. Jessie Louise Chipman of No. 22 Lee street, Cambridge, who is suing Charles Edwards, a Massachusetts avenue market man, for $5,000 because she alleges he kissed her.

No one held a stop watch so the exact duration of the kiss isn't known, but Mrs. Chipman told the Suffolk Superior Court she was forced to bite Edwards' tongue to end the "assault," as she prefers to call the market man's osculatory salute.

"He grabbed me by the wrists and with his right hand held my arms behind my back," said Mrs. Chipman, describing the tactics of the alleged white aproned sheik. "Then he grasped the back of my head with his other hand and forced my face to his. The only way I could force him to desist was by biting the end of his tongue."

In her suit for $5,000, Mrs. Chipman claims she was "severely and painfully injured in body and mind, has suffered loss of earnings and earning capacity and was greatly humiliated."

Mrs. Chipman told the court that on the morning of the alleged assault Edwards delivered groceries at her home. He inquired about her husband and when told he was at work expressed gratification, she said.

"I was shocked and mortified and unset by the treatment accorded me," said Mrs. Chipman. "My wrists were very sore by reason of the force used by the defendant, who is a very large, powerful man.

"I used to go into his shop for my groceries and he was always very pleasant and nice," said the witness. "No, he was never fresh there."

Mrs. Chipman came here with her husband, August Chipman, from Newfoundland last year. She is twenty years old.

Miss Sanders, Picked in Evening American Contest to Play at Plymouth

If it means anything to have a prize as the prettiest actress in a theatrical company, then the "Simon Called Peter" company, the play coming to the Plymouth Theatre, should be proud to be the possessor of one.

We are referring to the Georgian beauty, Miss Lota Cheek Sanders. Miss Sanders came upon the stage by way of a beauty contest—which was a nation-wide contest conducted by the Boston Evening American two seasons ago.

Miss Sanders is a daughter of Leon Cheek, a planter of Dawson, Ga. She was visiting friends in Boston at the time of this contest and merely in fun submitted her photo. Her beauty, however, instantly caused the judges to invite her for an informal test and a prize of $1,000 was awarded her.

Miss Sanders, since the award, has been selected for many roles. She has played as a chorus girl in the Shuberts' production of "Make It Snappy." She has appeared under William A. Brady's management in "The Sable Coat," and in "That Awful Mrs. Eaton." She has developed until she now has an important part in "Simon Called Peter."

THE greatest praise ever given to a motion picture in New York and Boston was given to Marion Davies in "Janice Meredith." For sheer magnitude and dramatic sweep, for charm and romance, for the superb acting of its incomparable cast, it stands as the most engrossing document of the screen.

No wonder the nation's critics called it the very soul of America and declared that for thrilling entertainment it has never been equalled.

HADESSAH HAS THEATRE PARTY FOR CHARITY

Boston Junior Unit of Society Gather at Copley to Aid Orphans' Fund

"Junior Hadassah Night" at the Copley Theatre this evening will be held under the auspices of the Boston Junior Hadassah Unit.

Palestinian orphans are the purpose of this organization, composed of practically all of the girls in Boston who pledge allegiance to Zionist causes and developments. The more dollars obtained, the more orphans adopted, and if the sale of tickets is a safe indicator of box office receipts, quite a few parentless boys and girls of Palestine find themselves spiritually and ethically guided by the members of the Boston Hadassah Unit this year.

The committee in charge include Miss Rosalind Weinberg, chairman; Mrs. Bertha Gorfinkle Bergheim, Edith Burnstein, Evelyn Dana, Dora Friedman, Florence Goldberg, Zenda Goldman, Mrs. Lillian Alberts Kaplan, Frances Lesser, Frieda Lerman, Ethel Lurie, treasurer, Miriam Muran, Gertrude Nitlich, Mrs. Lettie Kupesky Stern, Rhoda Stone, Esther Thurman, Anna Villian, Ethel Watchmaker and Sara Winer.

The ball under the auspices of the Sisterhood Temple Isaabel Sholem, held at the Hotel Somerset, was an outstanding success, both financially and socially. Quite a few thousands were realized to donate to the building fund of the new half a million dollar edifice now in the course of erection to be located at Kent, Marshall and Beacon streets, Brookline. The congregation of this temple is the oldest in the State and the second oldest in New England.

In the advance notice of the ball in this column we referred to it as "a matrimonial agency, serving the purpose without the vulgarity of the words." Mrs. Julius Beal of Powell street, Brookline, states: "Such was not the case. The ball was a social and financial attempt to aid the temple building fund solely."

Mendel N. Fisher, executive secretary of the New England Zionist Region, will speak at the meeting of the Dorchester Zionist District in the New Hebrew School, Bradshaw street, tonight. Dr. A. S. Shubow, president of the organization, and Miss Frances Burnice, secretary, have called this meeting to consider important Zionist business.

* * *

"A Jewish National Fund box ought to be in every Jewish home to remind you of the work we are doing in Palestine," is the appeal made by the New England Zionist Region to the Roxbury Jews, asking them to assist the Daughters of Zion who begin their campaign today to establish a definite annuity for the Jewish National Fund. The organization of Jewish women are using every effort to raise funds through the collection of national fund boxes for Zionism.

* * *

Plans are complete and elaborate arrangements have been made for a banquet at the Hotel Somerset on February 22, on which date the campaign for $350,000 will be launched by a joint campaign committee for the Ort Construction Fund, the Emergency Committee on Jewish Refugees and the American Jewish Congress. Morris Margulies, organization secretary of the American Jewish Congress, is directing the campaign.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

GRAY hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Held Captive For Two Years In Canal Barge . . .

"Dirk was handsome . . . with that savage kind of look that makes you feel a man is dangerous . . . yet I had fooled his kind before and I took a chance . . ."

—From the girl prisoner's true story in March SMART SET.

Then at last I knew how dangerous Dirk could be . . .

"I HAVEN'T been off this canal barge in the two years since Dirk kidnapped me and shut me in its cabin!"

"Why did this happen to me? Why should I pay this terrible price?"

The girl who managed to send to SMART SET this amazing story goes on:

"We pass through busy cities and tie up at night near farmhouses and villages, but I never speak to people. I look out on scenes I long to share in, especially when the barge goes South and passes those beautiful Florida towns with their gay life, but I don't dare try to run away. Dirk would kill me.

"It serves me right—this price Dirk is making me pay for toying with passion. Now I'd like other girls to know they can't play with fire and come through unscorched; no girl can be a salamander.

"I liked to be tempted and I never fell.

"I flirted with Dirk from the canal boat one day. He made a date with me and I went to the movies with him. He was only good enough to spoon with. He wasn't nearly good enough to marry me. But I got down on my knees to him later, begging him to.

* * *

"One night, behind the vines on our front porch, for the thrill of it, I led him on. Then I screamed. I had to.

"'You—' he said, choking with rage, 'I'll get you yet!'

"I was restless when I went to bed. When I woke up, hands were closing about my throat. Fingers cut off my breath. I was lifted out of the window and carried downhill. Then came the movement of a boat—the splash of oars. Mercifully, I fainted.

"When I came to I was being carried into Dirk's cabin. Surrounded by its soundproof walls, he looked down at me.

"'I wanted to marry you. You wanted to have fun with me; you wanted something else and you said: "Next time! This is the next time."'

"And his hand—that huge and terrible hand—closed on my shoulder."

This thrilling revelation by a girl who wants other love-triflers to know the price she paid, is one of twenty-three true and vital experiences told with the fascination of truth in March SMART SET, now waiting for you at the nearest newsdealer's.

JACK DEMPSEY TELLS INSIDE STORY OF LOVE SUIT FOR $100,000

By JACK DEMPSEY.
(As Told to W. B. Seabrook.)

Did you know there was one man who can boast—if he wants to—of having slapped Jack Dempsey's face, since Jack became world heavyweight champion? And do you know why Dempsey let him get away with it? It's a surprising story, which he tells in his own words in this chapter.

CHAPTER XII.

JACK DEMPSEY told me briefly a couple of weeks ago—and I mentioned it at the time in these articles—that he had never hit a man or been in a fight outside the ring since he got to be champion.

He told me about a mysterious somebody who had slapped his face—or tried to slap it—on Broadway; also about a man from the Argentine who had tried to force a fight with him in the American bar in Paris.

He wouldn't go into either of the episodes at the time—except to say that he had refrained from hitting back because he considered it unfair to smash a man who would have no chance against him—and that he had made himself a promise never to hit anybody outside the ring, unless a situation was forced on him where there could be no alternative but to fight or lose his own self-respect.

FISTIC FACTS.

In subsequent conversations I have managed to draw out of him, somewhat reluctantly, the detailed facts about both episodes.

The man who slapped him on Broadway was Al Siegel, famous piano player, song writer and husband of Bee Palmer, with whose name Dempsey's was linked in connection with the $100,000 alienation-of-affections suit which took up many columns in the newspapers at the time.

Here is what the champion told me:

"Doc Kearns and I were out in vaudeville, on the road, not with an act like we had this Winter, consisting simply of straightforward talking with boxing and ring work afterward, but a sort of general skit or act. Maybe you saw it. We wanted to pep it up a little bit and make it bigger, and we were looking for a girl who could sing and dance.

THE SHIMMY STAR.

"While we were on the circuit we met Bee Palmer and her husband, Al Siegel. They had a whizz of an act. I had seen her dance before, and I think she is one of the best in the business. She is a blonde, pretty, graceful, and a wonder in the shimmy dance.

"You know, they say she was the inventor of the shimmy, and that it was one of the things that made her a top-notcher in Follies shows and big-time vaudeville.

"According to the story her Broadway friends tell, it was partly an accident. She was singing one night in vaudeville, in a low cut ball-room gown with two little thin silk shoulder straps, and one of 'em was loose and began to work down over her shoulder.

"And as she sang she gave her shoulder a sort of downward hunch or shrug to see if she could catch up the ribbon before it slipped all the way off, and she kept shrugging and trying to make the shoulder-strap slip back up and couldn't quite make it, but it didn't slip clear off so she kept shrugging at it, in time to the music.

"Well, the audience thought it was a new sort of dance and went wild with applause, and at first she was surprised, and then she caught on and began to shake both shoulders in time to the music, and there was the new shimmy dance, invented, you might say, by accident.

"You know how it spread 'round the world, and pretty soon everybody was doing the shimmy, not only on the stage, but society girls and debutantes and all.

THE IVORY SHARK.

"When I met her she had already reached the top of her fame, and the act she and her husband had was one of the best. I don't want you to think I have any grudge against him or that I'm trying in any way to run him down. He's a real artist in his line—a shark on the ivory keys and a born musician.

"Kearns and I watched them, standing behind the scenes, and we went out front once or twice and watched them—and we decided if we could arrange it we would like to have them join up with one act.

"Afterward she left the act and I didn't keep up with their next movements, but bang! all of a sudden came the announcement of this law-suit by Al Siegel against me, and it was a big surprise. He charged that I had alienated his wife's affections, and he asked for $100,000 damages.

"I don't say that he wasn't honest about it. A man may do a wrong thing honestly. But I do say that he was entirely misinformed.

STRICTLY BUSINESS.

"I met Miss Palmer in a purely professional way. She was engaged in a business way, through the negotiations of my manager, Jack Kearns, and my relations with her, though friendly enough, were always of a business and professional nature.

"But just the same, a suit of that sort is a mighty bad thing for a man in my position. I have tried so hard to keep out of that kind of thing, and I've tried always to play square and to really be a gentleman—not just a dressed-up imitation of one. So many nice people have been friendly and kind and had me in their houses—the kind of people who wouldn't have had anything to do with a professional boxer in years gone by—and I've figured that it's up to me to try to live up to the way they treat me.

"And here I was spread all over the papers as the center of what looked like the meanest sort of a scandal. I didn't know what to do.

"If I went into court and fought it, it would mean a lot more bad publicity, and if I tried to compromise it or settle it quietly it would look like I was really in the wrong.

"It finally all quieted down and came to an end by Al Siegel and Bee Palmer going back together again. You can't be alienated and not alienated at the same time.

"But before they came to that, while the suit was still hanging, I heard that Al Siegel was looking for me in New York—that was maybe a month or so before—though that part of it isn't quite straight in my mind.

TROUBLE BREWING.

"I don't mean they said he was looking for me with a gun, or any foolishness of that sort, but he and a bailiff had a paper of some kind that they wanted to serve on me personally.

"I naturally wasn't going to see Al Siegel if I could help it, for it couldn't possibly do any good. Well, one night, after theatre I think it was, I was going to meet Jack Kearns at the Tavern for a bite of supper and to talk over some things, and when I got just inside the door, starting to give the coatroom girl my hat and coat, a friend of mine slips out and pulls me aside and says, 'Jack, I thought I'd better tip you off—Al Siegel's in there waiting to see you.'

"It seems Kearns hadn't got there yet. Well, my motto is never to walk right into a mess just to act smart, if it's something you can just as easily avoid, so I figured I'd simply go and eat somewhere else, and leave word for Doc Kearns to join me.

"As I went out the door, though, Siegel had spied me or somebody had told him, and he came running after me. Now I didn't have to run away from him. I certainly wasn't afraid of him. There was nothing I was ashamed of—but I didn't want to see him. I didn't want to have anything to do with him.

"There was a taxi standing outside empty, or just pulling up to the curb. I don't remember which, and I jumped on the running board and started to open the door. Siegel grabbed hold of my coat, and when he saw he wasn't going to be able to hold me he suddenly let fly with the flat of his hand, with every intention of giving me a slap on the side of the face.

"He had his nerve all right. I'll hand him that. I don't know what he figured. Maybe he just lost his temper and forgot all about my being a professional heavyweight fighter.

"It was a temptation to hit him. I think Christianity's a fine thing and religion's a fine thing, but I don't believe in this turn-the-other-cheek business. It's not practical. But on the other hand, what was the use? I could have smashed him—and what would people have said? The big brute! The big bully! The tough guy! Goes around picking fights and soaking fellows on the jaw. Just because he's a prize fighter and knows he can get away with it.

PENALTY OF FAME.

"And then there'd be the newspapers, and maybe he'd have had me arrested—and I've always wanted to keep clear of that sort of stuff.

"Let me tell you right now, a fellow who is a champion heavyweight in the ring is at a sort of disadvantage in a case like that—if he's got any squareness or decency. He knows he can smash the other guy, and smash him flat, almost no matter who he is.

"And that's the very reason, as I figure it, why he oughtn't to do it. But it's this way: I'd feel about myself hitting another man who's not in condition and don't know how to fight something like I imagine you'd feel about hitting a girl. It wouldn't be fair.

"Anyhow, when Al Siegel took a swipe at me I drew back my fist, as natural as anybody would, to soak him, and then I said to myself, 'No, I mustn't.' And I just pushed him away from me, quick but gentle, and climbed in the taxi-cab and beat it, very much annoyed and wishing it hadn't happened.

"I told you I've been up against other cases more or less like it before, and I've always managed to get out without smashing anybody. But just the same, I'm plenty human. I wouldn't advise anybody to try slapping my face on a bet, or anything like that, for there's always a chance that I might forget and poke him one."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

In the next chapter Jack Dempsey will tell about some of the scores of girls he has been reported engaged to, including Sylvia Jocelyn, Mary Lewis, Bebe Daniels, Anne Pennington and Estelle Taylor.

HUB ROTARIANS JOIN WINTER MERRYMAKERS

Out into the great open spaces, where men are men but the ladies stand the cold a great deal better, two large and joyful parties headed from Boston today via the North Station.

Into the frosty hills of New Hampshire the parties trekked, one to the annual Winter sports carnival at Hanover—that dear old Dartmouth—the other to Jackson, N. H., where 150 Boston Rotarians disguised as Eskimos will frolic in the snow and [illegible] they like it.

SPECIAL CAR.

A special train of ten cars made up the Hanover party and the brakemens moaned beneath the weight of feminity—goodness how restless and the virile males and their skis, snowshoes, skates, toboggans and [illegible] dogs.

There were more than 300 bundles of laughter in the party, including Helena Lane, Muriel Fish, Ruth Parker, Winnifred Barnes and Kathrine Sweet, and it was a darn good thing all the girls were along, too, because Pres. Art Hopkins of Dartmouth was on the train and he had come out flatly and said any man who went to the games unattached—well, I'd be pretty selfish.

PRESCOTT IN CHARGE.

Rolling Reed on the Rotarians party, in which were numbered Pauline S. Ward, of Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. William Lippman, Mr. and Mrs. William Kiefer, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Secor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Huggins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunt, George Lord, Arthur Finnegan and George Marston was Wentworth Prescott, secretary of the Rotary Club of Boston.

Family groups, including children, predominated in the Boston party, their third annual Winter outing.

Snow shoeing, hiking, skiing, sport contests and a costume ball are included on the program at Gray's Inn, Jackson. The Rotarians will return Sunday afternoon.

ZIVIC CHOICE OVER TIFLITZ FOR BOUT AT TRIPLE A TONIGHT

PUNCHER IS RIVAL FOR LEONARD

By JACK CONWAY.

JACK ZIVIC, a twenty-one-year old Pittsburgh youth, will show how he punches with one right hand when he battles Joe Tiplitz of Lowell in the main bout at the Army A. A. armory tonight. Zivic was taught that if you can do any one thing better than anybody else you will gain fame and wealth if that's what you want. Zivic has decided on fame and wealth in life. And when Jack decided to become a professional fighter he first mastered the fine points of the game so as to protect himself from serious injury and then developed his right-hand punch.

Jack Zivic

The clever boxers are well paid, but the top money is usually held for the boys with the dynamite in their wallop.

Zivic has done outstanding things during his ring career. He knocked out Archie Walker of Staten Island in one round, while he flattened Lew Tendler in five chapters.

Walker was considered the most promising contender for the world's lightweight championship up to the time he was tipped over by Zivic. Zivic's five-round knockout of Tendler established him as one of the leading stars of the flistic racket.

Benny Leonard fought Tendler twice and couldn't score a win. Last Summer in Philadelphia Al Walker, world's welterweight champion, was obliged to display everything he had in the fistic line in order to outpoint Lefty Lew.

Zivic displayed good form in his final workout for tonight's quarrel which was held at a local gym. If he can make 135 pounds and be strong, which is very doubtful, as he weighed 141 pounds for Tendler, Zivic has the best chance of any of the contenders to take over Leonard's vacated title. Jimmy DePorto has taken a chance on Zivic's training and he says he will bring the Pittsburgh thumper down to 135 pounds.

Jimmy Bronson is managing Zivic. You will remember Jimmy as the easy talking young man who was here several years ago as pilot of Bob Martin, A. E. F. heavyweight champion.

Jimmy didn't try to pick a soft opponent for Zivic tonight. He apparently believes that a boxer's standing is not enhanced by defeating dead ones.

Joe Tiplitz

Tiplitz is one of the most rugged lightweights in the country. He is an aggressive, two-handed fighter. He has engaged in some of his most stirring battles in Boston rings and is sure to give Zivic a real test. Zivic is a choice to win.

THERE will also be three eight round bouts tonight. In the semi-final, Bart O'Neil of Roxbury will have Al Sears of East Boston as an opponent. Tony Mandell of Worcester will swap punches with Tommy Duffy of Revere, while Eddie Corbett of Brighton will collide with Johnny Andreasano of East Boston.

THE Somerville Lodge of Eagles will stage an amateur boxing show at K. of C. hall, Somerville, tonight. There will be bouts for novices at 118 pounds, while the 126, 136 and 147-pound divisions and the heavyweight class are open. Bob Jasse and Frankie Ryan are expected to collide in the final of the 147-pound division. Hector Mclennes of South Boston is expected to display a flock of action in the heavyweight class. Tim Looney reports that a large number of entries have been received in all classes and that there will be an abundance of action before the final bout is decided.

THERE will be five classes at the open amateur boxing show of the St. Joseph's T. A. Society at Commercial Ball Room on Saturday night. The 115 and 147-pound divisions will be for novices, while the 112, 118 and 126 pound classes will be open ones.

Male Rifle Teams Fight Shy of Vermont University Dianas

Green Mountain Girls Go So That Only One Man's Outfit Will Agree to Meet Them

The girls are saying it with cartridges.

They are ready to love, honor and shoot the members of the other sex.

Time was when a girl seeing a rifle, would proceed to faint and pass out of the picture. Now she greets one with a soprano cheer, and starts boring holes in targets. If it keeps up, the men will roll bandages in the next war, while the women do the sharpshooting.

The girls' rifle team at the University of Vermont is so good that even the bullseye breakers of the men's colleges are afraid to enter competition. The girls, who haven't been beaten in years, have the feminine title all packed away with the turpitude and high shoes and other antiques.

In their last match with the Washington State girls, the Vermont Dianas won by a score of 492 to 432. Three of them pinked 98 centers, one more marked 97, and the other two scored 95. That's good shooting in any war. Captain Viola McBridge, Arlie Wright and Elizabeth Mildon were the leaders. Irene Allen registered 97 and Alice Crowe and Isabel Cassidy were one point lower.

Cupid's dart has become a steel jacketed bullet, and the Vermont team has challenged the universe. Thus far the Norwich cadets, who have a practice of taking military, have been the only ones to pick up the gage.

Matches have been arranged by Miss Cassidy, manager of the team, with twenty-five girl college teams. These include Cornell, University of Michigan, Nebraska, Kansas, Michigan Agricultural College, North Dakota, Arizona, Oregon Agricultural College, University of Oregon Illinois, West Virginia, De Pauw, Ripon, Drexel Institute, Maine, Montana, South Dakota, Delaware, Maryland and George Washington University.

OLD TIME SPORT STORIES

by GEORGE V. TUOHEY

Two Great Battles Between Jimmy Kaveney and Charley Kelley in Boston Rings

This is the twenty-first of a series up in a flash and then down went of articles on old-time athletes by Kaveney.

George V. Tuohey, famous sports promoter, who has been prominent in athletics for thirty-five years.

Old-time followers of boxing in Boston who recall the two clashes between Charley Kelley of New York and Jimmy Kaveney, the then E. O. bantam king of Boston, always thrill at the remembrance of the immense amount of action piled into such small space of time as required to settle each match.

Kelley had been the amteur 105-pound champion, and his ability to punch won him international fame that finally resulted in his match with Billy Palmer, the English star, at a date subsequent to the battles here with Kaveney.

REGULAR BERLENBACH

Jimmy had walked through his class in somewhat the same manner as Paul Berlenbach has been toppling over middleweight opponents of the current time, and few of Jimmy's victims lasted more than a round or two.

In fact, few bantamweights ever carried the sock Kaveney carried. This was because of the fact that Jimmy had a right-hand swing to the jaw. He was up in a flash and then down went Kaveney.

The count of knockdowns was lost sight of in the tremendous excitement, but finally Kelley was counted out. So intense and fast was the going that few of the great audience realized how really short a time had elapsed until it was officially announced that less than two minutes had passed between the first sound of the gong until the referee had ceased pumping his arm when "ten" had been counted over Kelley's prostrate form.

BLIZZARDY NIGHT

Another match was inevitable and quickly made for $250 a side. This wager meant nothing in a way, except an evidence of good faith, for ringside betting would govern the amount at issue. The Charlesbank A. C., then on Haverhill street, offered a purse of equal amount and with all the details agreed upon, the match was set to take place within six weeks.

Kaveney was placed in the hands of Howie Hodgkins for training, while Kelley prepared at New York. Although the battle took place on the night of a howling blizzard, the hall was packed to the rafters. Kaveney was a strong favorite to win, naturally, but the New Yorkers came over with big bank rolls and covered every offering by the followers of the Boston lad.

Word had gone round that Kaveney could never maintain his terrific speed beyond a few rounds and that Kelley would play a waiting game. Sure enough Kaveney leaped at the New Yorker only to receive a sharp drive flush on the chin that set him on his haunches, punch drunk. He rose weakly, got another jolt and the affair was over for keeps. This required but one minute and twenty-six seconds, yet the fans saw plenty of action and left the hall fully satisfied with what they had seen.

YUSKO IN BOUT WITH MONTOUR TONIGHT

MAT PROGRAM TONIGHT.

Frank Yusko, Lithuanian heavyweight champion, vs. Chief Montour, Delaware Indian, best two falls out of three to a finish.

Stanley Stasiak, Polish heavyweight champion, vs. Leon Labriola, Italian title holder, and any other heavyweights who may wish to show in a ninety-minute match, Stasiak agreeing to throw all opponents.

Nick Karavas, New England lightweight champion, vs. Louis Andrews, challenger, one fall to a finish.

By RINGSIDE.

Frank Yusko, Lithuanian heavyweight wrestler, who has been winning steadily, will experience some worthy opposition when he tackles Chief Montour in a finish bout, best two falls out of three, at the Grand Opera House tonight.

Yusko won impressive victories over Stasiak and Cliff Bunckers and is considered by many here as one of the mat game as one of the most promising youngsters to come to the front in several years. He has the necessary size, while he is also a finished grappler which cannot be said of even Wayne Munn the champion, who defeated Strangler Lewis chiefly on account of his remarkable brute strength.

Montour has had more experience than Yusko, while he is also heavier. The Indian's craftiness has made him a big Boston favorite. He says he will pull a few new tricks on Yusko tonight which will give him the victory.

In the other star bout, Stasiak is billed to clash with Leon Labriola, Italian heavyweight. Stasiak recently posted $1,000 as a forfeit agreeing to toss all of our local wrestlers within ninety minutes. Labriola was the only wrestler to accept Stasiak's dare.

The opening contest tonight will bring together Nick Karavas, New England lightweight champion, and Louis Andrews, Greek challenger. This will be a one-fall match to a finish.

"KID MUSHER" WINS NON-STOP DOG RACE

The Pas, Man., Feb. 5.—The "Kid Musher," Emile St. Goddard, won the 240-mile non-stop dog race of the Pas Derby Association by such a margin that word still was awaited today from the four other entries.

The eighteen-yearold French Canadian youth brought his dogs across the goal line at 9.45 o'clock last night, covering the new course over the Hudson Bay Railway to Herb Lake village and return in 35 hours and 28 minutes. His reward was a $1,200 prize.

DAN ROBERTSON ENTERS "KNIGHTS" HIGH JUMP

Dan Robertson, former member of the B. A. A. and now wearing the colors of the Newark A. C., today sent his entry to Manager Bannon, in charge of the Knights of Columbus games at Mechanics Building, Saturday evening.

B. C. FOOTBALL BANQUET AT WESTMINISTER TONIGHT

The B. C. football team will hold its annual banquet at the Hotel Westminister tonight. Sweaters will be awarded to the players. A crowd of about 100 will be present. Among the guests will be Coach Cavanaugh.

NORTHEASTERN MEETS TUFTS ON MAT TONIGHT

Coach John O. Copley has been working hard on his wrestling team at Northeastern University and has a squad of 15 men to pick from. Tufts tonight at Medford.

Bouts Last Night

At Halifax, N. S.—Flaherty, Lowell, knocked out Dick Hunt, maritime champion, 2 rounds.

JOIE RAY DEFIES NURMI TO RUN HIM AT MILE

New York, Feb. 5.—Joie Ray of Chicago, who failed by two-fifths of a second to break the mile record held by Paavo Nurmi of Finland at the Western Union A. A. meet, has requested that his entry in the one-mile special at the Wilco A. A. games Saturday night, in which Nurmi is to compete, be withdrawn. He challenged the Olympic champion to a mile race.

"My record will show," Ray said in a letter to A. A. U. officials, "that for years and years I ran anybody at any distance from one-half mile up to three miles. I did ask for special opponents, special conditions and special distances. I ran anybody, anywhere, any time, and any distance in between the above two mentioned. I think that Paavo Nurmi should do the same and think that the majority of track fans agree wit hme.

"If Nurmi is anxious to race me at any distance, nothing would suit me better than to have him meet me Saturday night."

Kirby to Measure Strides With Nurmi

New York, Feb. 5 (AP) Eddie Kirby, product of Cornell, who will be pitted against Paavo Nurmi in a 5,000-metre race Saturday, appeared to be running an exceptional race in the mile and one-half event at the Newark A. C. games last night, yet his time was fully nineteen seconds slower than the record established by the man he hopes to conquer in Brooklyn at the Wilco A. C. meet.

Kirby might have improved his time to some extent, for he was content to trail Andy Craw of New York until three laps from the end, when he assumed the lead and ran away from all opposition.

Kirby had an opportunity to see his intended victim in action last night—a race in which Nurmi shattered the mark for 4,000 yards set up by the great Englishman, Alfred Shrubb, twenty years ago. The Finn made the distance in 10.30, but failed to break the record of 2½ miles in anything like the time established by Willie Ritola, at Madison Square Garden the night before.

Nurmi, in eclipsing Shrubb's outdoor mark, was timed at the 4,000 metre distance in 11 minutes, 55 3-5 seconds, a mark that will stand as a record for that distance, there being no previous figures.

Inside Golf

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 81 golf champions, "Golf's most successful mentor," says "Chick" Evans.

With a wood club swing the player should feel utterly free of restraint and especially should he be free of it in the shoulders. Since the club with the wood is to drive the ball as far as you can send it, and since you want complete bodily freedom and muscle spring. The slightly curved left arm at the top of the backswing promotes this freedom. With an iron club the left arm is considerably different. I like a little bodily tightness with a short iron, but failing to be taken usually is not a great factor. The main thing is to take the ball solidly, and the club does the rest. The blade, unless the ball is fairly teed up in the grass, must dig through the sod and to make it do this you can use a good deal of solidity in your swing. Keep the left arm straight! Don't allow it to bend sharply unless you are confronted with the very low ball. With this club the left elbow curves slightly at the top, just as with the wood.

FISHER'S RESIGNATION SPOILS HARVARD'S GRID PLANS

WAS TO BE MENTOR AGAIN

Upsets Crimson's Football Program

Just as the stage was all set for the reappointment of Bob Fisher as head football mentor at Harvard, the committee on athletics received a letter from him stating that he had decided to retire from football coaching. This upset some well-laid plans, because everything was all set for his reappointment.

As a result of the letter which asked that he not be considered for the job the coaching situation is in a muddle. Mr. [illegible] will be a member of the Harvard [illegible] next year [illegible] that he will not be the head coach of the Harvard football team.

The fact that Fisher was through at Harvard was told exclusively in last night's American.

"Harvard will [illegible] a great man when [illegible] Major Monahan, graduate manager of Harvard athletics, commenting on the situation.

He added: "The members of the committee were entirely satisfied with the record that Fisher made as head coach during the past [illegible] years. It was he who developed [illegible] stories over Yale. Fisher has been a success because Harvard won four out of six Yale games [illegible] coaching."

The committee also praised Fisher. It appeared [illegible] which he treated the men [illegible] teams and the [illegible] was maintained.

In the communication to [illegible] the committee stated [illegible] luck in having [illegible] and regretted that he would not be head coach at Harvard [illegible]. The report also stated that the relations between the athletic committee and Fisher had been the very best during his entire stay at Harvard.

The students at Harvard were behind Fisher in many [illegible] before the next ball game [illegible] their confidence in him. [illegible] out to cheer for him, but when [illegible] conceded that he [illegible] the line.

Fisher stated in [illegible] that he had to give up football on account of business. He [illegible] considered coming back for one year, he said, but gave up that idea because the situation would be exactly the same next year.

The Fisher Advisory Board [illegible] allowed their boy to [illegible] Fisher when they considered him [illegible] as head coach for next year [illegible] ing will be related. BEWARE OF INDICAN the poison sign of Costiveness, warn health authorities—What to do.

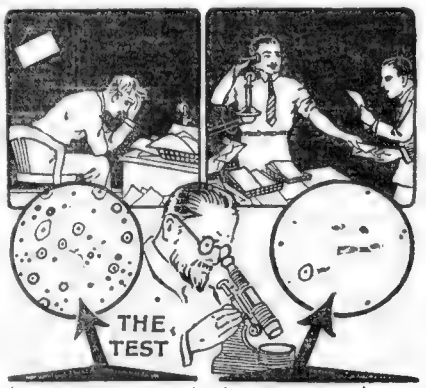
THE danger of constipation is its poison, warn physicians. This poison is pumped into every little muscle and every little joint in your body. Beware! for it has the same effect as Carbolic Acid or many other poison.

Do you dare to make a test to prove this? Three out of four constipated men and women under such a test show the presence of INDICAN, and Indican is the sign doctors look for to find out if your blood is poisoned.

Carter's Little Liver Pills, unlike ordinary laxatives, not only "physic" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drive the INDICAN away.



Is it constipation that weakens your physical power? INDICAN indicates the poison of constipation without guessing—ask your doctor.

Same man after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—note the clean, normal specimen — FREE FROM INDICAN.

Make This Test: Have analysis made of your specimen, and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN—or if cause of bad stomach, no appetite, foul breath and sour taste—immediately start taking Carter's Liver Pills. Next, have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. Now your clear, bright complexion, free from pimples and blackheads, comes back—you can EAT like a kid, and you feel FIT in most cases.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills, used for 47 years by millions of people all over the world, is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

START THE STORY HERE TODAY

Margaret Meadows married Will Lee at seventeen. His drinking habits soon made her miserable. She might be raised his hand to [illegible] two-year old child in a one-horse sage-she-slipped from his home with her baby. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fairdale, where she met Andrew and they fell in love. But he was tied to an invalid wife and Margaret refused to let him leave her. Nora, at seventeen, fell in love with Dane Herrick. Andrew was killed in an auto accident. Nora met Maxwell Reed, who made love to her. Margaret died and Nora was left alone. She plunged into a fast set of flappers. Dane quit [illegible] her for her association with Max.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

STATISTICS show that forty-three organ-grinders went into bankruptcy last year on account of having their monkeys stolen.

GLANDS are becoming so popular that an organ-grinder can't keep a monkey long enough to play one song.

HE buys him after breakfast and loses him before lunch.

ONE Italian lost seventeen monkeys playing in front of the Old People's Home.

THEY kept throwing him nickels and dimes and he could have been there yet if he hadn't run out of monkeys.

HE spent all his money in the last six months sending telegrams to his correspondents in Africa.

ORGAN grinders are rapidly becoming extinct because they can't hold on to their monkeys. However, a few of them are starting out next month with elephants, as they are not so easy to lose.

Many Reasons for Using Laxatives

Obesity, Rheumatism, Torpid Liver and a Host of Conditions Yield More Readily to Stuart's Calcium Wafers

Constipation has an odd way of affecting people differently. Some get violently sick, with headache, others merely get fat, still others are apparently just lazy, others get melancholy, while most people take colds and go from bad to worse.

The best all-around laxative, and that is what every family should always have on hand, is Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are very small, so do not upset the stomach, and yet their action is wonderfully complete. They thoroughly remove all accumulations and have an influence in the blood that tends to relieve the causes of rheumatism, colds, torpid liver, headache, nausea and a host of other symptoms. For over-fatness they are highly recommended.

Their influence is quickly observed in a healthier color to the skin and the disappearance of pimples and such blemishes usually due to constipation. They are sold almost everywhere at 60 cents a box and a ten day test will bring very delightful improvement in many ways. Try Stuart's Calcium Wafers as the very best all-around laxative medicine.

Send your name and address to F. A. Stuart Co., 61 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., for a convincing free trial package.

BEDTIME STORY

Broadcast Daily Through WNAC

THE CUNNING OF THE WEAVER-BIRD.

By Foxy Grandpa.

"OUCH!" said Bobby, as he scraped his fat little knee on one of the sharp rocks over which we were scrambling in Central America.

We sat down for a moment to rest Bobby's knee and while we were sitting there quietly, I saw Bobby's face brighten and his blue eyes fairly glued to a rock above us.

"What's that?" whispered Bobby, never wavering in his gaze.

"What's what?" asked Bunny.

"That long narrow thing hanging there from that rock?" replied the boy.

Bunny and I looked up just as two pretty little birds fluttered away from the hanging tube.

"Let's wait and see what happens," suggested Bobby. "I wonder what kind of a strange plant that is out of which they flew! Look! It's growing right on that rock."

"Didn't grow there of it's own accord," said Bunny.

"Then how did it grow?" said Bobby.

"It didn't grow," said Bunny, laying down his right paw on the ground beside him.

"What do you mean?" asked Bobby.

"The home of the Central American weaver-bird," declared Bunny, giving a tug to his right whiskers.

"Oh!" gasped Bobby. "Do you mean to say that that thing hanging up there is a bird's nest?"

"That is what I am trying to make clear," replied my rabbit.

"Let's look at it," cried Bobby, who by this time had forgotten all about his sore knee and was scrambling higher up on the rocks to examine the wonderful little nest.

"How do they ever make it?" I pondered.

"Those little workmen gather together all the downy seeds of plants which they can find and then they spin them together with their own saliva," said Bunny. "Look how soft that nest is on the outside. Imagine what it is on the inside."

"I'm going to look," said Bobby, poking his nose into what he thought was an opening on the side of the nest.

"They fooled you, too," laughed Bunny. "That's only a fake opening to fool enemies. Look at the bottom. There is the real entrance."

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

You and I know that if we do not behave we will get into trouble. Some employers still has this lesson to learn.

Chief among them are those employers who work their men seven days a wweek and every week of the year.

This un-American, non-civilized evil must be stamped out.

* * *

Why are our taxes so heavy and why does it cost us so much to live? Partly because we now have so much government, so many commissions and regulatory bodies of every conceivable kind and description.

What brought all these enormous armies of tax-eaters? Why have we so many commissions and other business policemen?

Mainly because business did not behave itself properly and the public demanded that these business policemen be appointed. If the conduct of business had been satisfactory to the public, we would not have had one-tenth so many regulators, so many governmental detectives, so many probers.

* * *

This reminder is here set down for the benefit of those who control and manage our railroads. Heavens knows we have laws enough, and to spare. But unless the railroads unfailingly remove the evil of seven-day weeks another law will, as sure as death and taxes, be demanded and placed on the statute books.

I could fill this column every day with the praises coming in from all parts of the country from railroad workers who protest against having to work seven days a week and every week of the year.

The grand president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Shop Laborers, Eyre H. Flodell, controverts, as have others, Samuel O. Dunn's statement that the charge that "railroad employes in general or any number of them work 365 days a year for their pay is pure fiction." In course of a lengthy statement, this labor leader says:

"During 1923 there were 84,241 railway employes covered by the jurisdiction of my union who worked 20 or more 8-hour days a month, according to the Interstate Commerce Commission's wage statistics report for the year.

"Twenty-two thousand eight hundred and thirteen crossing and bridge watchmen averaged 26 days per month during 1923 and earned an average of $74 a month. They were recently denied one day off in seven by the Railroad Labor Board.

"Fifty thousand six hundred and seventy-three laborers in shops, engine houses, etc., are shown on an hourly basis, and the actual hours per month for the year are equivalent to 30¾ days a month. Their monthly earnings were $87.

"Six thousand two hundred and forty-nine pumpers averaged 31 8-hour days a month and earned $82. There were 17,077 section foremen, equipment operators, 842 helpers to steam equipment operators and 1487 bridge operators and helpers who averaged 30 or more 8-hour days per month during 1923.

"All of the above classes, with the exception of shop laborers, have recently been denied time and half rates after eight hours by the Railroad Labor Board, although this rule has been granted to all other classes of railroad employes.

"Averages are useful to a certain extent, but are misleading in that they are not only useless but highly deceptive.

"For example, the average for daily rated maintenance of way employes in October, 1924, is shown by the I. C. C. to be $2.41, and the public generally easily believes that maintenance of way employes actually received such wages. The fact is there are only 4,746 men on a daily basis in this classification and this number is composed of officials and not employees, namely, 3,315 roadmasters' general foremen and 332 assistant general foremen.

"During this same month, October, there were 202,152 sectionmen who earned $9,572 section foremen who earned $124; 24,063 carpenters who earned $125, and so on throughout the various classifications of wage classes, with the result that the remaining 416,199 employes in this department show average earnings for the month of $91.

"The truth is that many employes in the maintenance of way department as well as other departments are on a 30-day assignment."

A New York Central signalman writes:

"What time has a man for himself or his family, when he leaves the house, say, at 2 p. m. and gets back at from 2:30 to 3:30 a. m.? I have done this, and I have also tried to be relieved from duty for a day and have asked in vain to be off duty as many as eight different times during two months and could not get off duty.

"Ask factory workers to work all day Saturday or Sunday or holiday, and what will they say?

"We would not mind all this so much if we could save some to show for our work, but we do not get as much as those who only work five and a half days a week. The railroad officials juggle us in with all the high officials pay rate and show the public a good average."

BOSTON WOOL IMPORTS HEAVY

By FRANK H. MELOON.
Financial Editor.

Sir George Paish, financial adviser to the British government during the World War, forecasts the rise of sterling to par. He finds the New York Stock Exchange "an important part in international finance as a securities market.

Sir George Paish

Owing to America's free market for capital, he says, this country has been able to float loans and investments that would have been of great assistance to England through enabling her foreign debtors to liquidate their debts to the British Empire.

Sir George is emphatic in predicting sterling's advance to par, despite handicaps that lie in the way, and what he has to say is in line with the statement recently made in this column that it would not take much effort on the part of British financiers to advance sterling to par, under present conditions, whenever they desired to do so.

The only available information as to the duty actually collected on wool and mohair from week to week is the report of wool imports at Boston and Philadelphia issued by the Boston branch of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Department of Agriculture.

This report gives the invoice value of each lot of wool and the clean weight as estimated by the appraisers and importers, and on which the 31-cent specific duty is assessed.

From these weights and values the Carded Woolen Manufacturers' Association has calculated the value per clean pound and the ad valorem equivalent of the 31-cents rate for each lot since the reports began to appear on September 15, 1923. As Boston and Philadelphia are the chief ports of entry for wool, the statistics cover the bulk of the wool brought into the United States and reveal accurately the actual proportion of the Fordney-McCumber duty on wool and mohair used for clothing as distinguished from carpet wool, [illegible] used free of duty.

The table below gives the figures for the Boston and Philadelphia imports from September 15, 1923, to January 3, 1925. The estimated clean weight was 72,250,256 pounds, and the invoice price varied from 16.2 cents to 170.4 cents per pound.

As the 31cc rate is assessed on all kinds of wool for clothing regardless of the price, it follows that the ad valorem equivalent of the 31-cent duty varied from 18.2 per cent. on the highest-priced wool (170.4 cents to 19.2 per cent. on the lowest-priced wool (16.2 cents). Between these extremes every possible price per pound is to be found, the ad valorem tariff tax being lowest on the highest-priced wool and increasing as the price decreases until the highest ad valorem duty is reached on the lowest-priced wool.

The total value of the wool imported was $53,207,261, on which a total duty of $23,312,730 was collected, making the average ad valorem equivalent of the wool duty 43.8 per cent. for clothing wool imported.

Imports of wool at Boston and Philadelphia, with duty collected from September 15, 1923, to January 3, 1925:

Estimated clean weight	75,202,356 lbs.
Invoice value per estimated clean lb	70.8 cents
Ad valorem equivalent of 31c per estimated clean lb	16.2c to 170.4c
Duty value of wool	$23,207,261
Duty collected at 31 cents per pound on wool	$23,312,730
Ad valorem equivalent of 31-cent duty	43.8%
EXTREME VARIATIONS OF AD VALOREM	18.2% to 181.8%

REVIVAL IN BUYING OF STEEL EXPECTED

Operations of United States Steel subsidiaries this week continue at 94 per cent., the same level as past week. Output this week is 95,000 tons production, although not as decidedly so as in December, when operations were considerably lower. Steel men expect there will be no approach of warm weather in the Spring, there will be distinct revival in buying.

Burlington Loadings

Chicago, Burlington & Quincy handled 170,240 cars in January, against 157,863 in December and 162,426 in January, 1924.

NEAR BILLION GAIN IN OILS IS SHOWN

New York, Feb. 5 (A.P.)—The steady advance in the price of oil shares since the first of the year, based on sharp reduction in crude production and a series of gasoline and crude oil increases has added nearly $400,000,000 to the quoted value of 10 active issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The combined appreciation in the other petroleum shares listed on the "curb board," together with that of the many issues traded in on the New York Curb market, where many of the former Standard Oil subsidiaries are listed, undoubtedly would bring the total gain in all pipe line and oil shares dealt in in local security markets to close to $1,000,000,000.

Following is a list of ten active issues with their high and low prices of the year and a gain in quoted value on stock outstanding:

SENECA'S NEW PLAN IS MADE EFFECTIVE

Response of stockholders to the reorganization of the Seneca Copper Corporation through subscription to new stock at $6 per share has been very successful and the reorganization plan is now effective. Deposits have come in in such volume on the last day that exact figures are not yet obtainable, but it is known that they are over a majority—and acceptance of many thousand shares is held up by stamp and other technicalities, which are in process of adjustment.

At the urgent request, however, of a substantial number of creditors, and stock and security holders for an extension of time within which to deposit securities under the plan of reorganization, the committee has extended the time within which deposits and payments may be made with the Old Colony Trust Co., Boston, and Central Union Trust Co., of New York, until and including Saturday, Feb. 21, and there will be no further extension.

DOWN-TURN FOR WHEAT FOLLOWED BY RALLY

Wheat started downgrade in Chicago during the early dealings in sympathy with Liverpool and Buenos Aires markets. Decline at Liverpool was largely due to the Argentine forecast that shipments to Europe there will total more than 7,000,000 bushels this wee. Opening figures, which ranged from 1⅜ to 1¼ cents lower, with May 1965 to 1⅝, and July, 1651¼ to 1651/8, were followed by something of a rally. After starting ⅛ to 1¼ cents off, with May, 136 to 136⅛, corn advanced.

ATLANTIC NATIONAL'S CAPITAL RAISE O. K.'D

Atlantic National Bank directors have approved recommendation of executive committee that capital be increased from $4,500,000 to $5,000,000 through issuance of 5,000 shares of stock at $200 a share. Approval of increase by comptroller of currency is now be sought and approval special stockholders' meeting will be called to take action.

STOCKS ACTIVE AND STRONG IN NEW YORK

Stocks were active and strong in afternoon trading in New York, aided by the reduction in call money to 3 per cent., showing plenty of funds available for stock market uses.

Another constructive factor was Secretary Mellon's expression of optimism regarding Spring business prospects.

Southern Railway imparted additional spirit to the upward tendency of the rails, running up to further record high at 92. Brisk bullish demonstrations continued in various oil shares. Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil spurted to 32, gaining 3 points, Yesterday's low of 29¾, while General Petroleum sold at 51, up nearly 3 points from the previous session's low and a new high on move.

POOLS ARE ACTIVE.

Continued buoyancy of the railroad and oil shares encouraged renewed pool operations in many stocks. This was reflected in an

New Theory on Noses

It Is Interesting. Let Us Discuss It

Here is a suggestion handed to the editor in regard to noses. Have you noticed, by the way, how many suggestions all men find in things that interest their CHILDREN?

Editor Boston Evening American:

Here is a hunch on big noses that may be useful some time, if it isn't too old. You remember our friend Napoleon wanted men for generals with big noses, because they were usually abler. I've been trying to find out why. Lately, since my small son was operated on for adenoids, I find his nose, which was formerly small, is beginning to develop rapidly. Of course, this is because he now breathes through it, and using any organ develops it. But isn't it barely possible that the MEN WHO HAVE BIG NOSES ARE THE NOSE BREATHERS? AND THAT THEY ARE ABLER BECAUSE THEY GET MORE AND BETTER AIR INTO THEIR LUNGS BECAUSE THEY DO BREATHE THROUGH THEIR NOSES?

J. O.

This letter is printed because all human beings are interested in noses. Whatever a man HAS he is interested in. Consequently you can be sure to attract all of your readers when you talk about blue eyes, big noses, red hair, fat or thin bodies. For that same reason you interest millions when you talk about babies.

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the man with the big nose is the able man.

Go over at random a few of the very great men—Dante, Napoleon, Washington, Lincoln, Wagner, Voltaire—most of our everyday favorites—and you will find them with big noses. As we have said before, you find them with blue eyes ALWAYS. There are NO exceptions to the rule that the really great men have blue eyes; there ARE some exceptions to the rule about big noses.

For instance, Socrates, who was very great indeed, had a very small and turned-up nose. Perhaps some accident happened to it when he was young. The Greeks thought big noses —reasonably big—beautiful. And they thought so much of beauty that they didn't see how it was possible for a man to be as wise as Socrates and as ugly as he was.

Beethoven—the greatest musician that has lived thus far—also had a rather small nose. Cromwell had another small nose.

Speaking hastily, we should be inclined to say that great INTELLECTUAL power goes with a big nose, and that force of character, the FIGHTING quality, goes with a small nose. Cromwell and Socrates—the latter was really only a moral fighter, not an intellectual one—compared with Voltaire, Dante and Napoleon, bear out this theory sufficiently well.

We disagree with our contributor in one way. We do not think it is BREATHING that makes the nose big. It is THINKING that produces big noses.

A life of prolonged study and deep mental concentration will actually change the nose of the individual to a perceptible extent—making it larger and bumpier than it would be naturally. Of course, this effect is accentuated from one generation to another, and it is pretty safe to say that the man with a highly developed nose either comes from a thinking FAMILY or from a RACE that has done some thinking for a good many centuries.

The pronounced noses of the Jewish race are undoubtedly due to the four thousand years of education that they have behind them. When most of our ancestors were savages, dancing around with little civilization and few clothes, the Jews already had more than two thousands years of civilized and thinking life back of them.

Why it is that thinking should affect the nose we don't pretend to say. Of course, even in the animal world you will notice that the mental operations seem reflected in the face. For instance, the eagle—with his very fine beak, his savage, determined temperament—has a very different physiognomy from that of a canary bird, or an honest egg-laying hen.

We must remember that it doesn't do to judge a man ENTIRELY by his nose. Very often the nose—which originally indicated thought or concentration of purpose—keeps its shape long after the thinking has ended and after the purpose has melted.

For instance, you can find in Europe an elaborate collection of princes and princess with magnificent inherited noses—and among them all there is not enough real thought, energy or concentration to make one single Hanover street pedlar a success.

Forbes' Trial Well Ended

The American people are not disposed to rejoice over any man's misfortune, but they do rejoice that the verdict of guilty in the Forbes case shows that this particular jury was not moved by the fact that the defendant was influential and was represented by able lawyers.

The verdict proves another thing equally valuable. Some months ago the Federal judge who presided over the case was quoted as saying that the case should go over until after election because Republicans were for Forbes and Democrats were against him.

Doubtless the judge said this in a jesting mood, but it is well to have the jury's assurance that in such cases the politics of the defendant cuts no more figure than the color of his eyes.

It is hard to imagine a worse offence than the one with which Forbes stood charged in the mismanagement of the Veterans' Bureau. Since the jury has decided that he is guilty, the country will be able to contemplate his punishment of two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine without regret.

Of course the case still has to run the long technical gauntlet of appeal, but for the present the cause of law enforcement has the moral tonic of the conviction of an influential defendant.

We Talk Peace

Britain Gets Ready

The Senate is asking President Coolidge to call a World Arms Parley to urge disarmament. In Europe that will seem amusing, but not important.

While our wise statesmen talk about disarmament and sweet peace you learn from England that she is getting along nicely with the building of her two Zeppelins of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity each, twice the size of our biggest.

Also that England has successfully tested the biggest submarine ever built and is constructing heavier-than-air machines that will eclipse everything thus far seen.

While this country talks about world parleys and disarmament, wise British statemen go ahead and get the very latest of the machines that will win the future wars—submarines, Zeppelins and heavier-than-air flying machines. England has statesmen—we have politicians.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

I ALWAYS disliked men who wore horn-rimmed spectacles.

* * *

I thought they were piggish, affected and unbecoming.

* * *

But NOW I think they are intellectual looking, don't you? And distinguished, and interesting — and all that! "HE" wears them.

* * *

I always hated men whose hair was getting thin on top. I liked glossy, thick, wavy, moving-picture hair, that you could run your fingers through.

* * *

But, now I think a thin-top is SO clean-looking—and nice!

* * *

I always felt that men obsessed with a passion for golf were childish and a little absurd.

* * *

But, now I think golf is a wonderful game. It keeps a man so fit and vigorous, and clean-limbed and well set-up. Even the calluses on their hands are fascinating!

* * *

I always said there were two kinds of men in the world—interesting men —and dancing men.

* * *

But, now I think dancing is a delightful exercise. HE loves it so!

* * *

I always prided myself on being a little "difficile"; reserved, meticulous, hard to please, hard to kiss— and all that sort of thing.

* * *

But the first time he tried to kiss me, it was SO easy. I didn't even put up an argument, much less a struggle—just my face! I think he felt as though his partner had trumped his ace.

* * *

I always said that real love was a matter of growth, a glorified friendship, built on the solid rock of perfect understanding and companionship, and sprinkled with the star-dust of romance. That there was NO such thing as "love at first sight"— that was only infatuation, dalliance, illusion.

* * *

I take it all back! I don't know WHAT love is!

* * *

I always said I should never be foolish about ANY man.

* * *

And NOW look at me!

Oh, ain't love grand!

* * *

Yes, dear heart, it ain't!

* * *

But, this happens to every woman, once in her life — and sometimes twice!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Child Labor

Editor Boston Evening American:

May I take the liberty, as one of the common citizens, to praise the serious cartoon in your paper of recent date, drawn by Hal Coffman, on the child labor question? I believe a great deal of propaganda was willfully advanced by certain agencies at work against the interests of any but themselves and the class they represent.

Let me further state that if this act does not become the twentieth amendment, that without a doubt it will be the twenty-first amendment.

The bugaboo that this act would give Congress control of one's children seems to be a bubble that has no truth in it.

I have two little boys and if this act was possible of giving Congress control of them I think it would be to their advantage.

What kind of citizens are they who dare not trust the laws they make themselves and the men they elect to see that those laws are fulfilled?

May your paper ever be the champion of just such causes, and stand firm for free speech, free press, the right to free assemblage and the free public schools.

Hard To Get Along

Helping Hand Editor:

I am the mother of seven children, boys, 2, 4, 6, 7 and 14 years old and two girls, 11 and 13. I am expecting the stork in March and as my husband is working only half time, I find it very hard to get along. Overcoats and shoes for boys, sizes 9, 13 and 2, and other clothing will be appreciated for them and for the girls.

MRS. J. P. 2.

Sick and No Work

Helping Hand Editor:

I am the mother of six children, three girls, 12, 5 and 3 and three boys, 10, 8 and 2. They are badly in need of clothing. My husband needs clothing, size 38, shirts, 15. He is without work and at present sick. Also if I could get some house dresses, size 38, I would be so grateful.

MRS. L.

Nothing To Wear

Helping Hand Editor:

I know a woman who is very poor and only has a bungalow apron to wear as dress when she goes out. She wears size 38 or 40, shoe, 7. She has two little ones 18 months and 6 months old, both badly in need of clothes. She also needs a little crib and blankets for the baby.

MRS. Q.

Wants Sled for Work

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if there is someone who has a sled they will give my boy. He does errands for a grocery store across the street and gets a dollar every Saturday. The one he had got smashed by an auto. I have eight children, four boys all under 13, and two girls, 14, 11 and 5½. The boys need blouses and the girls dresses, etc. If my boy don't get a sled or a small wagon he will lose the chance to make that dollar on Saturday. I hope someone will help us.

MRS. R. J.

Other Needy Ones

Mrs. C. B. would like large chair of some kind, as she has asthma and cannot lie in bed at times. Also need a coat and some warm clothing, size 36, also a mattress if not asking too much.

Mrs. L. H. needs clothing, 36 or 38; shoes 4, man's size 38, and for small children eight months, two and four years.

Mrs. R. 2 needs clothing and underwear for three children, girls seven and three, boy two. Also house dresses for herself and pants for husband. Expects the stork soon. Can mend or make over.

Mrs. L. P S. writes: Been sick all Winter. Hard time to get along; needs clothing for girl nine and boy 13. Also for herself size 42. Can make over anything.

Mrs. A. B. obliged to go to work; would like woman to look after children from 7:30 a. m. to 3:30 or 4 p. m. No other work. Will pay $4 a week.

Mrs. R. C. expecting the stork; needs baby clothes. Also for little girl 9. Husband sick 4 months with rheumatism.

Mrs. M. S. 1 needs pants for boy 12, clothing for girls 10 and 8, boys 8 and 17 months. Shoes for boys 3½ and 10, girls 1½ and 13.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

FIRELIGHT or moonlight, oh, which would you choose? Firelight like rubies, a-glitter, a-gleam; moonlight like silver veils misting the yews, touching to splendor the blithe forest stream? Firelight is bright on the hearth at your feet, whence it goes dancing on ceiling and wall, making the ingle-nook cosy and sweet, weaving the spell of its magic for all. Firelight is made for the hearts that love home, ever content with its peace and repose; moonlight comes luring man's footsteps to room, moonlight that quickens the pulse of the rose. Shining for lovers and love's tender vows, hearkening to lyrics that Philomel sings, moonlight falls whitely on silver-barch boughs, moonlight caresses sad Philomel's wings. Firelight or moonlight, oh, which will you take; firelight that brightens the heart of the home, moonlight whose gleam keeps love's wonders awake, luring man's fancies to wander and roam?

EXTENSIVE USE OF COPPER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE extent to which copper is used was demonstrated the other day by Thomas D. Brophy, of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, in a speech before the Rotary Club of New York.

"There is scarcely a basic industry that is not reliant, in greater or less degree, upon the service of copper or its alloys.

"In 1923 there were 2,800,000,000 pounds of copper produced in all the world. The largest single consumer of copper is the electrical industry, which means the telegraph and telephone systems, electric urban and interurban lines and light and power systems.

The world's telegraph and telephone systems have already consumed 1,300,000,000 pounds of copper and are now using it at the rate of 200,000,000 pounds a year.

The world is girdled by 20,000,000,000 pounds of copper in submarine cables.

In the locomotive there are about 3,000 pounds of copper used.

The average automobile has twenty-five places where copper is employed. One day's output at Ford's at the Highland Park plant alone, requires 254 miles of copper tubing for radiators and 67 tons of brass for various parts and appliances.

The Leviathan contains more than a million pounds of copper and copper-bearing materials.

A modern superdreadnaught contains two million pounds of copper.

The Grand Central Station in New York contains over 2,500,000 pounds of copper and the Equitable Building has a total of nearly 2,000,000 pounds.

The ordinary street-car contains about 2,500 pounds of copper. Into our American street railway systems has gone 675,000,000 pounds of the material.

The annual average consumption of copper for each man, woman and child in the United States is almost fifteen pounds.

The United States is the greatest copper-using country in the world. Almost one-half of the world's total production of copper is consumed in the United States.

The recent great increase in the use of copper and its alloys in this country may be attributed largely to the work of the Copper and Brass Research Association.

DIRECTION RADIO WAVES TRAVEL

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

"If a person in Boston should communicate by wireless with an antipodean, say in New Zealand, in what direction would the waves travel?—E. I."

MOST likely they would travel in all directions. It is the tendency of the radio waves to spread, or radiate away on all sides.

That is what renders "broadcasting" possible. The waves go from their point of origin in all directions, as water waves spread around the spot where a stone has been dropped into a pond.

The problem of secret, or restricted, communication by radio involves the necessity of sending the waves in only one direction, and thus preventing them from spreading.

Your communication to the antipodean might reach him from opposite directions and the waves meeting in that way might, conceivably, interfere.

According to the theory of the transmission of the radio waves around the curves of the globe, which at present seems to be the favorite, there are various circumstances which might favor the transmission one way around more than the other way round.

Possibly the time of day when the message was sent would have an influence. It is generally said that long distance transmission is easier by night than by day.

Suppose then that you started the message just at nightfall, or just at daybreak; in the first case the waves would have ahead of them a night journey traveling eastward, and a day journey if travelling westward.

Or, since no doubt waves would start in both directions, those that went toward the heart of the night might get through, while those that followed the course of the sun would be stifled.

On the other hand, if the message was started at sunrise, the light side of the globe would lie toward the West and the day side toward the East, and then the easiest way round for the waves might be westward instead of eastward. But these are simply speculative considerations based on more or less uncertain data.

At present the most widely considered theory, perhaps, is that which pictures the existence, at an elevation of sixty miles or more in the atmosphere, of a kind of shell-like screen, or layer, the "Heaviside surface," which is thoroughly ionized, or made electrically conductive, by the influence of the sun, and which in consequence prevents the passage of the waves and reflects them back earthward like an electric mirror.

Then, to account for their progress around the world, it is assumed that they are, in turn, reflected back from the earth to the mysterious electric mirror on high, and from that returned again to the surface of the globe, and so on, like a series of reflections of light taking place between parallel mirrors.

The underlying idea of this theory may be caught from our diagram, where the waves are seen passing in an undulating course round the globe from the transmitting station, and alternately touching the Heaviside layer and earth beneath.

If this theory is correct it looks as though all speculations about radio communication with other planets are vain, for the waves would have to penetrate the reflecting shell, which is contrary to the fundamental assumption.

But though it is said, truly enough, that "in the midst of life we are in death," it cannot be said that in the midst of mystery we are in hopeless ignorance.

ONCE-OVERS

DON'T THINK YOU CAN WOUND FEELINGS OF OTHERS AND MAKE UP AT WILL

Are you a ruthless sort, thinking little of how you may hurt another's feelings at the time, but soon repentant and trying to do a favor to make up?

It cannot be "made up" so easily as you think.

There are some wounds which never heal.

When you are angry you are harsh in manner and speech and seem to wish to make your thrusts as deep as possible.

Afterward you think you can make amends by performing some kindness.

You may get forgiveness, but not absolute forgetfulness of your conduct.

You should realize that the cutting statements which you made leave a deep wound, for you are not always truthful in your harshness.

Cruel and unjust as you know yourself to be when angry, why do you not try to curb your tongue?

You know that it is dangerous for you to allow temper to get the best of you, for it puts you in an irresponsible position for which others suffer as well as yourself. Your ill temper is your worst enemy. Control it by thinking before you speak.
